Intersection plans progress...slowly

Long sought Glen Road-Middlesex Avenue improvement estimated cost $800K

BY DAN HALL
Crier Correspondent

WILMINGTON - The Glen Road/Middlesex Avenue Intersection Improvement Project continues to be a difficult issue for Wilmington to resolve, as well as a high focus issue, says Town Manager Jeff Hull. At last week's Board of Selectmen meeting, Hull read a letter in which he stated that intersection was "The town's number one priority traffic improvement project."

The area, which has a statistically significantly high rate of car accidents as compared to other areas of Massachusetts Department of Transportation's Region Four —nearly double - has long been an area of concern and a priority for quite a while, but progress has been slow. At the Board of Selectmen meeting, Hull announced a

WILMINGTON - Julie Fennell was at ground zero the morning of 9/11. "When the South Tower collapsed, it fell on my hotel while I was in it," she said. At first, Fennell did not realize the tower was collapsing on the 13-floor building with glass ceilings where she'd been staying. "I heard an announcement that something was going on, but to remain calm."

Fennell, along with 100 other employees in town for a marketing conference, were directed back to their rooms to wait for instruction. "I heard an ear-piercing explosion and then the lights went out. It was pitch black. The building rocked. I thought we were being air bombed."

It was the floors of the South Tower falling, one after the other, which sounded like bombs.

Principal and Class of 2013 Graduate Together

BY DAN HALL
Crier Correspondent

WILMINGTON - The Wilmington High School Class of 2013 graduated on Sunday at the Shriner's Auditorium. This class had seen many changes come to Wilmington, including the destruction of their gym in preparation for the construction of a new high school. They also have the distinction of being the last class to graduate under the direction of Principal Eric Tracy, who will be taking a job at Hamilton-Wenham Regional High School next fall. The emotion was palpable in the air, and was reflected in the speeches delivered by the students and faculty at the event.

Valedictorian Joanna Torres spoke to some of these changes, remarking on how much the class of 2013—and the world—had changed in what was a relatively short time. "We have gone from being awkward freshmen to mature and still slightly awkward seniors," joked Joanna. She spoke to the changing atmosphere at the high school, the high standards of the teachers, the changing administrative staff and the addition of technology to the high school specifically mentioning the free wifi in the Adams Street wing as something she and the other seniors "grew up with."

Torres went on to discuss some of the darkest changes they had witnessed, including the Boston Bombing, the loss of Officer Sean Collier, and many natural disasters. She stated, however, that this was not to cast "a dark shadow over the class of 2013" but to show how much she and her class had come together during

Four vehicle collision sends two to hospital

Medflight called for motorcycle operator

BY JON BISHOP
Crier Correspondent

WILMINGTON—A four-car collision at the intersection of Route 62 and Interstate 93 reportedly sent two to the hospital.

The crash, which happened on Friday at 5:32 p.m., occurred when a vehicle exiting the highway collided with one traveling along Route 62. That accident sent one of the vehicles into oncoming traffic, which caused another collision. Immediately behind this final vehicle was a motorcyclist. He ended up hitting the others.

The operator of the motorcycle, Ronald Gray, 41, was taken via med-flight to Massachusetts General Hospital. His injuries are reportedly non-life threatening, but severe.

Another party, also with non-life threatening injuries, was transported by ambulance to Winchester Hospital.

Tewksbury and North Reading Police assisted with traffic control.

According to Lt. Dan Murray of the Wilmington Police Department, the crash is being investigated by the Accident Reconstruction Unit of the Massachusetts State Police.

9/11 memorial for new WHS progressing

BY SHARON ADELMAN CROWLEY
Crier Correspondent

WILMINGTON - History teachers Tracey Kassin and Mark Staffier were attending a 2011 summer workshop when they realized Wilmington High School should have a memorial for 9/11. "We were reviewing monuments for World War II and Vietnam when it occurred to us," he said. Kassin and Staffier initiated a committee for the memorial. "To their credit, a tremendous amount of students came forward and said they wanted to be part of it; they wanted to learn and know more," Staffier said.

The committee's goal was to generate ideas for a monument at the new high school, slated for opening in 2015. "We have meetings once a week and different members, either Tracey, the students, or I bring in things to keep us focused on why we are there - such as newspaper pictures or articles - information on the events from that day."

The students are designing the 9/11 monument and have been working closely with architects of the new high school on cost and material. Once completed, the monument will be in the central courtyard.

One design, created by WHS student Michelle Murray, exemplifies the four events that took place on 9/11, representing the field in Pennsylvania, the Pentagon, and the Twin Towers. In addition, Wilmington firefighter John Brown, has volunteered a piece of steel from one of the towers to be included in the design.

WHS student Anthony Vitale found out about the committee last year in Mrs. Kassin's class and joined as a sophomore. He says he was in kindergarten on 9/11. "I don't remember the actual day because I was so young, but I remember it being full of chaos," he said.

This year, Vitale was chosen as the committee's president, overseeing fundraising at school events. "Last year we sold 9/11 shirts and this year we sold bracelets," he said. Approximately 2,000 bracelets were sold in Wilmington through students, parents, and teachers. To date, the committee has raised almost $6,000.

Vitale says he's experienced strong support for the memorial. "It's not just the students who are appreciative. While fundraising, I've come across a lot of people who are impressed and grateful we are doing something like this. I think it is great that Mrs. Kassin and Mr. Staffier can go beyond the classroom and inspire me and other students while teaching future generations about the tragic events of 9/11."

Staffier is proud of the students for being so involved and sharing strengths they have on this project. "It really is a student-based committee," he said. "We throw ideas out there but the students drive it."

Sunday, June 9th, Wilmington author Julie Fennell will be at the Wilmington Town Museum from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. to promote "Wilmington Remembers 9/11." In it, Fennell writes about her escape from Manhattan during 9/11 and Wilmington's reaction to the events. Books will be available for $10. All profits go towards the construction of the 9/11 memorial.

June 16th, Fennell and the WHS 9/11 Memorial Committee will be at the Wilmington Farmer's Market. Both the book and bracelets will be available.

For more information on volunteering or contributing to the 9/11 Memorial Project, email: mark.staffier@wilmington.k12.ma.us

Dr. Buzzell's wild ride

BY LARZ F. NEILSON

The name Buzzell in Wilmington is most commonly known as the name of the building where the Wilmington Senior Citizens' Center is located, on School Street. Many people assume that the building was named for the late Philip Buzzell, who held many positions in town from before World War I until his death in 1981.

The building was, in fact, name for his father, Dr. Daniel Buzzell, who served as the town physician for more than 40 years, from 1885 or so until his death in 1930. Dr. Buzzell fit the image of a small-town doctor, the man who would respond to patients' needs whatever the weather, who would sit with them through illness and even death.

Dr. Buzzell came to Wilmington after practicing for a year in Roxbury. He married Mary Louisa White, and they moved into a house on Main Street in the Square, where the telephone building now stands. It was in that house that Philip Buzzell was born in 1892.

Joseph Newton Ames was a neighbor who spent his entire life in the Square. He was born in a house where the old theater building stands, now Cooke's Skate Supply.

At some point in the late 1880s, Ames took Dr. Buzzell for a wild carriage ride. Ames' brother Henry wrote a poem about the ride. A critic has called it doggerel, and is critical in particular of the descriptions of harness and horsemanship. The notion of each man holding one rein, a horseman has pointed out, is quite dangerous. "The only one exercising any control was the horse."

They started in the square, headed for the lake. But a train was on the Wildcat track, so they turned about and headed for Lucci's.

The poem:

Listen, dear reader, while I tell
Of a twilight ride and what befell
Joe and the doctor
When the zephyrs played their finest tune,
And the air was filled with sweet perfume

From flowers in the merry month of June,
Joe said to the doctor,
"We will ride.
How jolly 'twill be at eventide!
We'll take in the principal street
And move in a style that can't be beat.

We'll rattle our bones over the stones,
And s'pose we take
The straightest road to Silver Lake."
"Agreed," said the doctor,
And both sat down
In a village cart of some renown.

The time was even by the kitchen clock,
When they reached the "branch"
That heads the train to Lawrence town.
And they smelled the smoke as it settled down.

From the locomotive, grim and black,
As it's speed increased on the Lawrence track.

"Ger-long," said the doctor.
"Gid up," said Joe,
And the prancing steed, with his jolly load,

Turned about for the Woburn road.

What is that sound, and what the shock?
It seemed as though they had struck a rock.

No, but the breeching's too long and the tugs too short,
The girt is loose and the check is taut,
And the horse's heels strike hard and fast

On the dasher board as they quickly passed Crowd and station, carriage and dray,
To Perry's shop, a mile away.

Each held a rein in the dangerous race;
Each lost his hat, and blanched each face,
And every traveler they chanced to meet

Courteously (?) gave them the width of the street
While they moved in a style that can't be beat.

"No one injured," the papers say.
No baskets of fragments obstructed the way
No one to "climb the golden stairs"
On that summer eve, no vacant chairs

Shades of Elijah! The one-horse shay
And Gilpin, too, all rise to say,
On history's page the record will glow
Of the wonderful ride of the doctor and Joe.

Mass. State Police: No water tampering at aqueduct

BOSTON (AP) — no evidence of water tampering after three outer latches were discovered cut along the Hultman Aqueduct in Framingham.

The Massachusetts Water Resources Authority put out a statement Monday saying their crews discovered the cut locks. The statement said there's no evidence there was any attempt to disrupt the water supply.

The statement said MWRA's real-time water quality monitoring also showed no change in water quality or any sign of contamination.

The Massachusetts State Police said their investigation found no evidence of any crime other than vandalism.

They said three padlocks were cut and evidence suggests there was an attempt to cut a fourth lock. There were no other attempts to defeat additional security measures.

The Hultman Aqueduct carries drinking water from a treatment plant in Marlborough to the greater Boston area.

CASUALTY LOSSES, INSURANCE AND TAXES

Uncle Sam may help cover the loss when you suffer property damage, but you have to follow the rules for a deduction. You can deduct the losses resulting from disasters like floods and hurricanes to the extent not reimbursed by insurance. But if you have insurance and don't file a claim, you can't take the deduction.

However, in a recent case, when a claim was filed but the insurer denied payment, the court allowed the deduction.

There are two offsets for personal losses: first the loss is reduced by $100 per incident; the balance is deductible only insofar as it tops 10 percent of adjusted gross income. Only itemizers can claim such a deduction on nonbusiness property. It's somewhat easier to deduct casualty losses on business property: the $100 and 10-percent offsets do not apply, and even those who do not itemize can deduct. There are special rules on losses in presidentially declared disaster areas. Will you qualify for a deduction? Bring your tax questions to the know-how people at:

"On the Move" Pedometer Challenge 2013!

WILMINGTON - Wilmington Public Schools announced the "On the Move" Pedometer Challenge winning teams in a state-met last week.

This year, as a new School Wellness initiative, several faculty and staff from all schools participated in the new program. There were 13 teams with 10 participants each. The purpose of the Pedometer Challenge was to motivate staff to be active and good role models for health. Walking is a gentle activity that can be done at your own pace. When done regularly, it can strengthen your heart and lungs, improve circulation and help to maintain a healthy weight. Walking also tones muscles and keeps your bones strong.

Participants wore a complimentary pedometer for the 10 week program, tracked their own steps every day and reported their weekly totals to a team leader. The goal was to increase the number of steps every day. Did you know that 10,000 steps per day for health equals approximately 5 miles?

"The program made me move more!" said one staff member.

Another commented "I really enjoyed the friendly competition and it made me more aware of my activity during the day."

Many Wilmington staff hope to repeat the program next year! Congratulations to the winning Pedometer Challenge teams!!

Commentary Same Road Same Rules

Remember: no one breaks the laws of physics

With the warm weather upon us we also see more folks out and about on two (sometimes 3!) wheels. More than once per day, we see adults and kids riding on the wrong side of the road - courting disaster. As awkward as it may seem, and yes, we at the Crier ride bikes too, cyclists would do well to remember that, when riding on public roads, they are required by the law to follow the same rules of the road as motor vehicle drivers. That means riding on the right side of the road, stopping at all stop signs and lights, and signaling turns. Pedestrians should walk against traffic, but one should never bike against traffic.

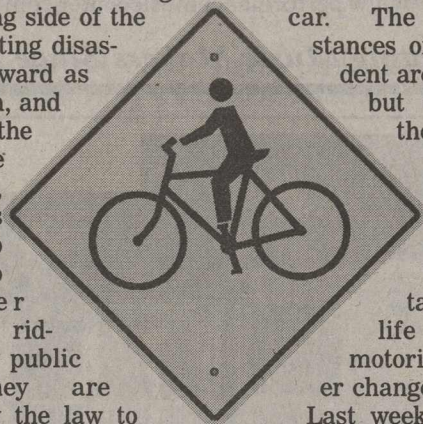

Years ago a Tewksbury teen rode his bicycle into oncoming traffic, startling the driver of a car, who hit him. The teen - not wearing a helmet or a shirt - was thrown more than twenty feet and had at least one leg shattered. And while the motorist was not deemed at fault, or charged, she felt horrible and her life was forever changed after hitting a young person.

Last winter, also in Tewksbury, an older man was hit and killed by a car. The circumstances of the accident are not clear, but the result is the same. The pedestrian later died at the hospital, and the life of the motorist is forever changed.

Last week a motorcyclist was seriously injured in a four-vehicle accident on Rt. 62 in Wilmington. While the investigation remains ongoing, one man is in the hospital and three other drivers must be shaken.

Cyclists and motorists need to take the time to slow down and pay attention to the road. Once a driver (on two wheels or four) relies on another driver to ensure his or her safety, they've already become vulnerable on the road. The gray matter between your ears is the strongest and best defense all drivers have - let's use it.

Unshackling DNA

A new, and contentious, 5-4 Supreme Court ruling announced Monday will allow police to take a DNA swab from individuals arrested of certain violent crimes seems a welcome advance for victims' rights.

Just last week CNN spotlighted the backlog for more than 400,000 rape kits that haven't been processed - evidence of crimes gathering dust on shelves. In some cases, too many years have passed since the crime occurred that the statute of limitations prevents prosecution.

Will the new Supreme Court ruling eliminate that backlog? Police still must process those kits, which experts estimate at a cost of $1,500 each, before new DNA swabs may be used for comparison. However, the opportunity to find more of these perpetrators the new ruling brings may help dislodge institutional inertia, and allocate precious funds.

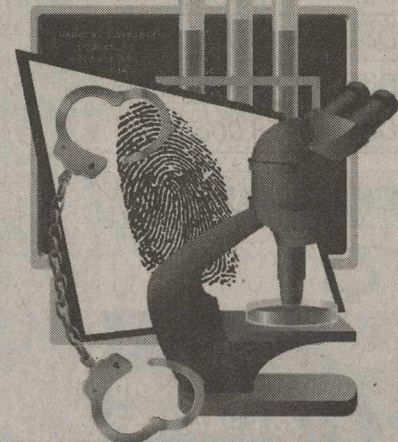

The ruling does incite an aspect of overstepping by police - taking DNA to solve crimes not being investigated in relation to a suspect - but is akin to the taking of fingerprints for much the same reason.

Legal scholars will debate the 4th amendment impacts of the ruling, and the limitations that may or may not be placed upon it. How does society determine when your DNA no longer becomes your personal information? When can it be taken for the "greater good" of public safety? Justice Antonin Scalia in his scathing dissent warned of children having DNA samples upon public school enrollment, along with their proof of vaccination and their social security number.

State Senator Bruce Tarr put forward a bill limiting the collection of DNA samples to persons arrested for and arraigned on charges of breaking and entering and habitual offenders. His bill, currently in the Joint Committee on Public Safety and Homeland Security, includes specifications for the disposal of the samples if and when felony charges are reduced to misdemeanors or dropped altogether.

It's a bold, new world with humanity capable of technology that often exceeds our laws and our shared ethical understanding. This new ruling, and Tarr's proposed law, however offers law enforcement a tool to improve public safety. While concerns should be raised about bio-ethics, the 4th and 5th Amendments, and more, we should not allow our fear of the unknown to shackle our abilities to solve crimes.

Allergies got you down?

Our expert advice can help

While we may be grateful for warm weather, with it comes stuffy noses, scratchy throats, and watery eyes for many of us. It's that time of year again: the start of spring allergy season. For those of us who suffer from allergies during the spring months, I am sorry to report that this year may be particularly bad for those who have allergies to trees, grass and mold; the heavy winter snowfall melting into the earth will likely make these allergies act up with ferocity. Later in the spring, when the ground dries, the production and spreading of pollen will likely be the culprit for those dealing with allergies.

Allergies can develop at any age. I often have patients who tell me they didn't develop their allergies until they were in their 20s or later. The good news is that there are many over the counter treatments to combat the symptoms allergies create. Most pharmacies sell antihistamines that can be taken orally. These are usually patients' first line of defense against allergy symptoms and help with itching eyes, sneezing, and runny nose, among other symptoms. Patients often ask me which one is the "best." Sometimes it takes trial and error to learn which one works best for you. While each drug is designed to do the same task (relieve your symptoms), each one has different chemical components that may work differently with your body.

You can also ask your physician about prescription nasal sprays to relieve the stuffed up feeling in your nasal passage. These sprays come in two types: antihistamine, which tends to dry up the nose to prevent dripping, and cortisone, which reduces swelling. You can use both an over the counter drug and a prescription nasal spray together. In addition, you can add prescription or non-prescription eye drops to your regimen if needed. By combining these medications, you may be able to reduce your symptoms greatly. If you are still experiencing symptoms, perhaps you should consider receiving a skin test, or a diagnostic test performed by an allergist to determine the root of your allergies and the severity.

If your allergies are severe, trying taking a shower before bed. Many people don't realize we carry pollen in our hair, which may explain that stuffed-up feeling you have when you wake up. If that doesn't help, it may be worth trying to stay indoors as often as possible to avoid exposure to irritants. Staying indoors with air conditioning will be even more beneficial to relieving your symptoms.

An allergist can also offer you allergy injections, which helps your body develop antibodies to fight against allergies. These injections are given once a week for 3-4 months, with the frequency of injections decreasing over time. I have many patients who say this treatment is the most effective for them. While injections are not a cure, some patients do report that they have minimal symptoms, even after coming off injections after several years of receiving them.

While it may be inconvenient to some patients to get weekly injections, some local hospitals and medical centers offer injections during business hours or clinics during evenings. Some do not require patients to make appointments, enabling offices to accommodate flexible schedules.

I do recommend that patients who are considering injections speak with their insurance provider representative. It is possible that patients may need to pay a co-payment or for the full cost of the treatment if it is not covered by their insurance.

Memorial Day Parade thanks

Dear Editor,
I would like to extend my thanks on behalf of The Friends' of the Tewksbury Patriotic Activities Committee to the participants and spectators who made the Memorial Day Service and Parade a success. We would also like to thank the DPW, Community Services Police Officer, Town Manager and his staff as well as the School Dept. for their assistance in the parade logistics. I would also like to personally thank my fellow committee members and volunteers who work tirelessly to help bring it all together to show that this community really is Tewksbury Proud & Boston Strong. I did not list any individual by name because I KNOW I will forget someone. But I do feel I should mention one person for whom volunteered his services, equipment and a lot of personal time in making not only this parade a realization but also ones past. Our sincerest appreciation, as well as a heartfelt thank you, to Dennis Sheehan of Sheehan Construction for providing us with numerous floats and other parade entries. Dennis your commitment to our efforts does not go unnoticed and our community is lucky to have a resident like you. Again Thank You.

FOSEK to Liam Nation

Dear Editor,
A demonstration of passion is when a person gets involved in an activity that benefits other individuals.

In 2009, Friends of Special Ed Kidz (FOSEK) became that passion for me; to give Special Abilities Athletes the opportunity to participate in sports program that otherwise wouldn't exist. This exemplifies my desire to make it possible for these athletes to be involved in programs that improve their health and wellness. They also learn the basics of the sports they participate in, improve their social skills, and, at some point, become involved in a regular town sports program, but most importantly to have fun. The best thing is they all look forward to returning each week to do it all over again.

This organization has done some great things in our community as a result of the families and volunteers who have supported this program.

At this time, I would like to personally extend my sincerest appreciation to all of the families who were involved in FOSEK programs, as well as the countless volunteers who gave their time to help make this organization such a success.

Without their dedication and time, we would not have been able to bring these programs to our athletes. It would take several pages to begin to list all those who were involved.

I have thoroughly enjoyed the last 4 years being involved with FOSEK Sports Programs and wish the best to all of you and recommend that the families and volunteers remain involved in LIAM Nation Athletics for the good of the young special athletes. They will also bring solid experiences to the kids and help them grow as solid individuals. It is All About The Kids!

Best Regards

Vini Messina

Republicans initiate bill allowing DNA collection

BOSTON - Following a Supreme Court decision (Maryland v. King) Monday allowing police departments to collect DNA samples from people arrested of a crime Senate Minority leader Bruce Tarr issued a statement supporting the ruling and calling on a joint committee to act on a bill introduced in January.

"Today's monumental decision by the Supreme Court makes it clear that collecting DNA evidence from those arrested of a crime doesn't violate the Constitution or the rights of those involved. With this decision in hand, our Commonwealth should act quickly and decisively to provide our criminal justice system with a powerful tool that has tremendous power to exonerate the innocent, prosecute the guilty, and identify those who may pose a further threat to public safety.

My conversations with those in law enforcement, victims, their advocates, and others have made a compelling case that DNA evidence collected after arraignment can be properly safeguarded and disposed of if a conviction isn't obtained, and that the benefits from collecting it are substantial.

Senate Bill 1176 authorizes this modern-day version of fingerprinting, and the Joint Committee on Public Safety and Homeland Security should act on it as soon as possible."

Tarr, along with Senate Minority Caucus members Richard J. Ross, Michael R. Knapik, and Robert L. Hedlund, along with House Minority Leader Bradley H. Jones introduced the bill January 22, 2013, when it was sent to the Joint Committee on Public Safety and Homeland Security.

The proposed law would collect DNA following arraignment on certain felony charges. Further, the bill also specifies measures to dispose of DNA samples when felony charges are reduced to misdemeanors, acquittals and certain other circumstances.

Middlesex Sheriff's Office Warns of Telephone Scam

TEWKSBURY/WILMINGTON - The Middlesex Sheriff's Office issued a press release last week warning citizens of a telephone scam involving individuals falsely claiming to work for the Office.

"We want citizens to be aware of this scam so they can properly protect themselves," said Middlesex Sheriff Peter J. Koutoujian.

The Office has been notified of two scam calls. They were received by residents in Somerville and Millis.

According to one resident who received a call Wednesday, a man phoned and identified himself as a Middlesex Sheriff's Office employee. The caller said he was collecting on an outstanding loan, demanded the resident's bank and credit card information and threatened to place him under arrest if he did not comply. The resident immediately contacted the Middlesex Sheriff's Office to report the call.

"These are not legitimate calls," said Sheriff Koutoujian. "Middlesex Sheriff's Office Deputies will never demand money over the phone and all arrests are performed in person."

The second incident also included a demand for payment for an outstanding loan. In this incident, the victim wired several hundred dollars to an account before contacting authorities.

The Middlesex Sheriff's Office is advising citizens who receive similar calls that they should not give any personal information to the caller and should immediately report the call to their local police department. We also ask that you contact the Middlesex Sheriff's Office Investigation Unit at 978-932-3104.

Debating the pedway

Dear Editor:

I am writing today as a follow up to last weeks Town Crier story about the removal of the Pedway at the Wildwood School property. I believe it is important for the residents of Wilmington to reflect on the fact that prior to the selection of the current new High School project or the votes to approve the project, at no time during the public forums in 2011 was any mention made that the Pedway or the rear parking area at the Town Park would be removed. These existing features were serving valuable functions but were removed as mitigation for the loss of riverfront area represented by the installation of the artificial turf field. Removal of the Pedway is representative of many examples of how this project was misrepresented by the powers to be and our elected officials. The abutter's wetlands appeal of Gerry O'Reilly remains unresolved in Superior Court. The Town may yet loose in court and has removed the Pedway as a construction activity at risk! It may not have been necessary to remove the Pedway.

The Pedway served a valuable function as the principal means of pedestrian access (for the residents of Federal Street and all the small intersecting roadways) to the children's playground, basketball court, and tennis courts currently located at the Wildwood School property. However, more importantly the Pedway is no longer "grandfathered" and can not be replaced and/or restored if the Wildwood were ever returned to being an elementary school or the Wildwood property was selected for the construction of a new Elementary School at some time in the future. Though not important to many people, my personnel memories of the Pedway from the 1960s include its use by area children as a ramp for testing soap box derby racers (a lost tradition) as well as buckboard coasters (the first design and construction activities of many future engineers). Loss of the Pedway represents another example of how the powers to be in this Town have no sense of history. It's only about the money and who is receiving that money!

Finally, let us remember that the Town was compelled to withdraw the first Notice of Intent filing associated with the artificial turf field because the Town's technical representatives proposed a project which was not in compliance with the Wetlands Regulations! We as residents of Wilmington paid for that faulty engineering. The residents appealing that faulty engineering were also held up to public ridicule. Not only was the paved surface of the Pedway removed, but adjacent unpaved areas which in my opinion as a geologist, had been re-vegetated by natural process and were therefore not eligible for mitigation. I ask the residents of Wilmington to consider how removal of a patch of pink lady slipper orchids was appropriate for inclusion within the mitigation area for an artificial turf field? An affidavit submitted by one of the Town's engineers during the wetlands appeal process contradicted the engineers own statements by actually agreeing with my assertion that sufficient time had passed for nature to recreate new topsoil. However, the town held back two key "missing" pages from the engineer's affidavit on this subject for over two weeks (until the day before the appellant's response was due). In my opinion the Pedway had acclimated to the local environment and along with the adjacent re-vegetated areas was largely functioning as a riverfront area. The residents of Wilmington have been sold a short sighted "bill of goods" by the powers to be and our elected officials!

Respectfully,
George Lingenfelter
Wilmington

(Editor's Note: We asked the Town Manager to weigh in on the pedway project and Mr. Lingenfelter's concerns and received the following response from Mr. Hull.)

The construction of a new high school is proceeding based upon the overwhelming approval of Wilmington residents both at the ballot box and at a special town meeting and with approvals from the Massachusetts School Building Authority and the state Department of Environmental Protection via their Final Order of Conditions. That Final Order of Conditions approved the removal of the Wildwood School Pedway and restoration of a particular area at the rear of Town Park as legitimate measures to mitigate impacts to wetland areas on the high school site. This substantial public undertaking has been delayed by a full year, causing great expense to Wilmington taxpayers and depriving an entire grade of students of education in a 21st century high school. The project has withstood close scrutiny, including two completed administrative appeals, and the Town remains confident that the current Superior Court appeal will affirm the project as currently permitted.

Jeff Hull
Town Manager

Q. Dr. Bob, do I qualify for free diabetic shoes if I have poor circulation?

~ Mary, Stoneham

B. Ask your doctor whether your foot pressure would be distributed more effectively with a customized approach to shoes and insoles. It's important that your feet don't develop calluses -- because poor circulation puts you at risk for slow recovery from wounds.

Great things to do with Dad on Father's Day

(StatePoint) Not sure what to give your dad for Father's Day? Classic choices like a tie or cufflinks are nice, but don't forget to give him the most meaningful gift of all -- quality time.

With a little planning, you'll make the time spent together memorable and exciting.

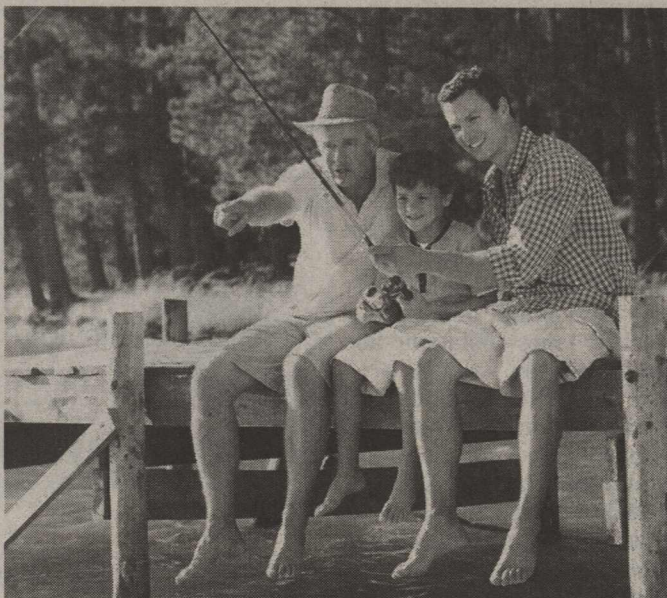

"No matter what your father's hobbies and interests are, there are affordable, fun ways for you to indulge them," says gift-giving expert Heidi Stubler at Groupon. With over 200 million subscribers worldwide, Stubler sees a wide variety of shopping trends.

Stubler is offering some insider tips to help stumped gift-givers plan Dad's day and beyond with ease:

• LEARN TOGETHER: Has your dad always wanted to learn to take great photos, fly a helicopter or sail? Maybe all that's stopping him is motivation. Sign him up for a class and take it with him. You'll both learn a thing or two and have fun bonding in the process. Find ideas and discounted tuition fees on a daily deal site.

• FOR SPORTS FANS: Plan a deep sea or fly fishing trip with your dad. If you're novices, you can book a chartered trip, which will equip you with a guide and all the gear you need. You may just bring home dinner.

For lovers of the great indoors, consider a family night at the bowling alley or a batting cage or even indoor kart racing.

Monkey Business - Fotolia.com

If your dad is more of a spectator guy, score tickets to his favorite team's home game -- or even, a summer concert at his home team's stadium! Often, daily deal websites like Groupon offer discounts on tickets, which means more hot-dog purchasing power for you!

• POKER NIGHT: Beef up your dad's rec room with activities you can enjoy together, such as a poker set. Help him start a weekly tradition with his friends. Make the first game night special with a whiskey tasting.

• BON APPETIT: An evening out at a restaurant your dad has never tried is thoughtful yet surprisingly easy. If he is more hands on in the kitchen, help him get his grilling setup ready for summer. Or treat him to a barbecuing, beer making or homemade sausage making class. Many deal sites offer a variety of local restaurant and culinary class deals that won't break the bank -- making it easy to splurge on a grand gesture that will make great Father's Day memories.

• INDULGE HIM: Treat Dad to a classic hot towel shave, a custom made suit or even interior/exterior detail for his car.

• S.O.S.: In addition to offering excellent deals, daily deal sites can provide great ideas and insight into what's cool and convenient. Get inspiration by using free tools like Groupon's online gift finder. The gift finder at www.Groupon.com/gifts asks you three simple questions about your dad and offers plenty of ideas based on your responses.

With a little effort and a little budget, you can make spending time with dad fun, interesting and maybe even enlightening this Father's Day.

Annual Blaire House Legislative Breakfast

By JON BISHOP
Crier Correspondent

TEWKSBURY—Politicians and health care officials gathered at the Blaire House Friday for the annual Legislative Breakfast, and discussion about the challenges of an aging population amidst a climate of tight budgets. Several speakers offered criticism on Governor Deval Patrick and his midyear 9C budget cuts, which he enacted back in December.

According to a press release issued by the State House News Service, "Patrick may reverse some of the $225 million in emergency cuts he made back in December." This is because "tax collections" are "running more than half a billion dollars above benchmarks through April."

Still, many in the legislature have worked to save and preserve Adult Day Health programs amidst the sluggish economy, earning the praise of the morning's speakers.

"The legislature...saved us," said Darcey Adams, the President of the Massachusetts Adult Day Service Association, speaking at the Blaire House Friday. She said that the Association offers "rich therapeutic activity programs" and identified an important result of their work: many discharges end up returning home. She also observed that long-term care is part of a "continuum" of health services.

"We can't forget our seniors," said Senator Barry Finegold, adding that his hope for Massachusetts's future is high.

"I've never been so positive as to where the state is going," he said.

Scott Plumb, the Senior Vice President of the Mass Senior Care Association, offered a starker picture. He said that many nursing homes are losing money and as such are in "desperate, desperate shape."

"If you cut us, we bleed money," said Plumb.

Nursing homes have made great strides policy wise, he noted. For instance—the use of anti-psychotic medication has been reduced.

The last speaker, Senator Bruce Tarr, agreed with Adams, stating that "our system depends on a continuum of care."

He noted that economic growth did not start until recently. He said that, regarding the budget, "essentially, we're in the same place."

He also remarked that the 90-year-old population continues to grow, which will be another task for those concerned with elder care.

"We've got to be ready to deal with that," he said.

The struggle between balancing tight budgets amidst the growth of the elderly population will endure for years to come. Frank Romano, the President and Owner of the Blaire House, said that the population continues to age.

"10,000 people turn 65 every day," he said.

completion of the project. According to Hull, the project aims to "improve safety at the intersection by installing geometric improvements and a fully signalized intersection at the Middlesex Avenue intersection with both Glen Rd. and Wildwood Street."

Hull also said that the project "Will complete the Town's sidewalk network in this area by the connection of the Glen Road sidewalk with the Middlesex Ave. sidewalk in an area that is in the vicinity of the Town's Library, Common and High School."

The changes that will correct this issue are not a short-term fix, but something that will take up to a year to complete and cost $800,000, which will be paid by The Department of Transportation. The time frame for beginning this project is a lengthy one, as the Massachusetts Department of Transportation has delayed three years in approving the 75 percent design plan. Wilmington committed to this project back in 2005 by hiring the engineering firm Green International to conduct preliminary engineering studies on the final design. This plan, which has "essentially" finally been completed, will be submitted to the state in June. Assuming that the plan and the 100 percent plan are both approved by the Department of Transportation the project will go to bid and construction and likely begin in fiscal year 2015.

Hull stated that this was "A disappointing time frame for the town, however, as this project could have been ready for construction several years ago." Hull went on to say that "If Mass. DOT is funding the construction, we seem to have no choice but to proceed on their schedule."

Another view of a serious multi-vehicle accident Friday night near the intersection of Route 62 and I-93. The accident remains under investigation. Two people were transported to the hospital for injuries, one by Boston MedFlight for the motorcycle operator.

In the Bass category, Brian Barnes was the winner, reeling in the largest catch of the day, weighing in at 1 lb.

1/8 oz. Winning entries in the non-Bass category were Alex Fiorenza with a catch weighing 11 ounces, and Nathan Ricardo, with a catch weighing 8 ounces.

The Recreation Department extended thanks to Jim Buckley for his assistance planning and supervising the Derby.

these trying times. She wished her classmates luck.

Class Salutatorian Erik Altalto spoke about the finality of graduation and the loss of the Wilmington High School safety net. He stressed that this was the beginning of a lot of new experiences, and some of them would be difficult, but that Wilmington High School had prepared the class of 2013 for anything they might face. He encouraged his fellow classmates to heed the words of JK Rowling, that "Our choices show us who we truly are, far more than our abilities." Altalto finished by saying "Wilmington High School has given us the abilities, but its time for us to make the choices that define us."

Class Essayist Wayne Huynh remarked that he knew he would miss Wilmington, commenting that "I know that we all joked about how we can't wait to leave this town, but I bet we all lived some happy lives here in Wilmington." He went on to state that he "could not predict the future, many possibilities could happen" but that he—and everyone present—would always know that they had graduated from Wilmington High School. "And once a Wildcat, always a Wildcat."

Lisa Desberg, who was voted teacher of the year, also had some advice in her speech. Desberg spoke about community, and what it meant to grow up in a community. She spoke with clarity about the changes that happen through ones education, from elementary school to middle school up to high school. These changes define us, but so does the community that we come from, said Desberg. She finished with a line from Hamlet, which Polonius had said to Laertes, powerful advice then as it is now; "To thine own self be true." Tracy came through with some advice as well, giving his students practical real world advice on top of the idyllic speeches so common at graduations. "Its important to ask the probing questions," said Tracy. He went on to say that it was extremely important to treat others the way you would want to be treated—even when they are not doing the same. "You always have to be the better person." He went on to advise students to ask questions, to follow their gut, and to always hold an ace, just in case something unexpected occurred.

Tracy went on to discuss how life is like a roller-coaster ride, and even when it jeers one up and down, it is still, in the end, a positive ride, and one that we are all riding together. Tracy finished with the statement that he, "Will miss you, but will certainly be settled knowing that we have the experience of our time together to lead us confidently in the direction of our dreams."

Wilmington Remembers

because she didn't know what to expect outside, Fennell and Wilmington native Elaine Murphy—then three months pregnant—found a police officer and asked "What should we do?" "Run!" he said.

"So we held hands and ran. We told each other we'd stick together no matter what happened. We ran and we never stopped holding hands."

Fennell's account of that fateful day is included in her newest book, "Wilmington Remembers 9/11."

The UMass Amherst Graduate majored in English and minored in history. "I always had an interest in writing—and writing about historical events in particular," she said. Her previous publications include family memoirs.

Fennell approached the Wilmington Historical Commission about a book on 9/11 from Wilmington's perspective. The commission agreed it was a great idea, however Fennell and her husband were about to adopt their first child, and the project was initially put on hold.

"I had written accounts of this in my journal," she said. "But then I didn't want to think about it for a while. It was too painful." Fennell said it was not an easy book to write. "It was hard writing with a newborn. It was the best and worst time of my life."

During a 10-year anniversary event for 9/11 Fennell's passion was rekindled. "I was on the Wilmington Town Common and saw so many young kids that would have no recollection of these events other than history books," she said. "A high school senior spoke about a 9/11 committee the school was starting, and they were looking for people to get involved. It came together for me after that."

In order to research Wilmington's reaction during that time, Fennell reviewed publications by the Town Crier. "I started with September 12th, the day after the attacks, covering articles and letters to the editor for a sense of how the community was feeling. I followed it to November 7th, Veterans Day."

She found a great sense of patriotism, along with mixed feelings of anger, sadness, and hope. "I really just wanted to collect all those stories and photos of vigils people held on street corners, lemonade stands for the Red Cross, and elementary schools that wrote in to the Crier about what a hero is."

Julie Fennell of Wilmington holds her book about the tragic events of September 11, 2001. Julie, who was in New York City that day, will donate 100% of the profits to the Wilmington High School 9/11 Memorial Committee. (photo by Maureen Brady-www.shootingstarspix.com)

Fennell wanted this to be everyone's story. "So when people open the book, they see the poems they wrote or the pictures of the vigil they attended, or letters they wrote to the Crier. It's our community's story. Everyone had a story to tell."

Interviews were conducted with local residents, former Town Manager Michael Cairra, and Wilmington firefighter John Brown, who would be contributing a piece of steel from ground zero to the WHS memorial. Fennell worked with WHS history teacher, Mark Staffier, to ensure profits go towards the memorial which will be built in the courtyard of the new high school.

"I would never write this type of book to make money off it. It was a horrific event and I firmly believe no one should profit from that day," she said.

The reason for Fennell's book is two-fold: "It is for future generations to use as a learning resource and to help build a memorial that will exist for years to come."

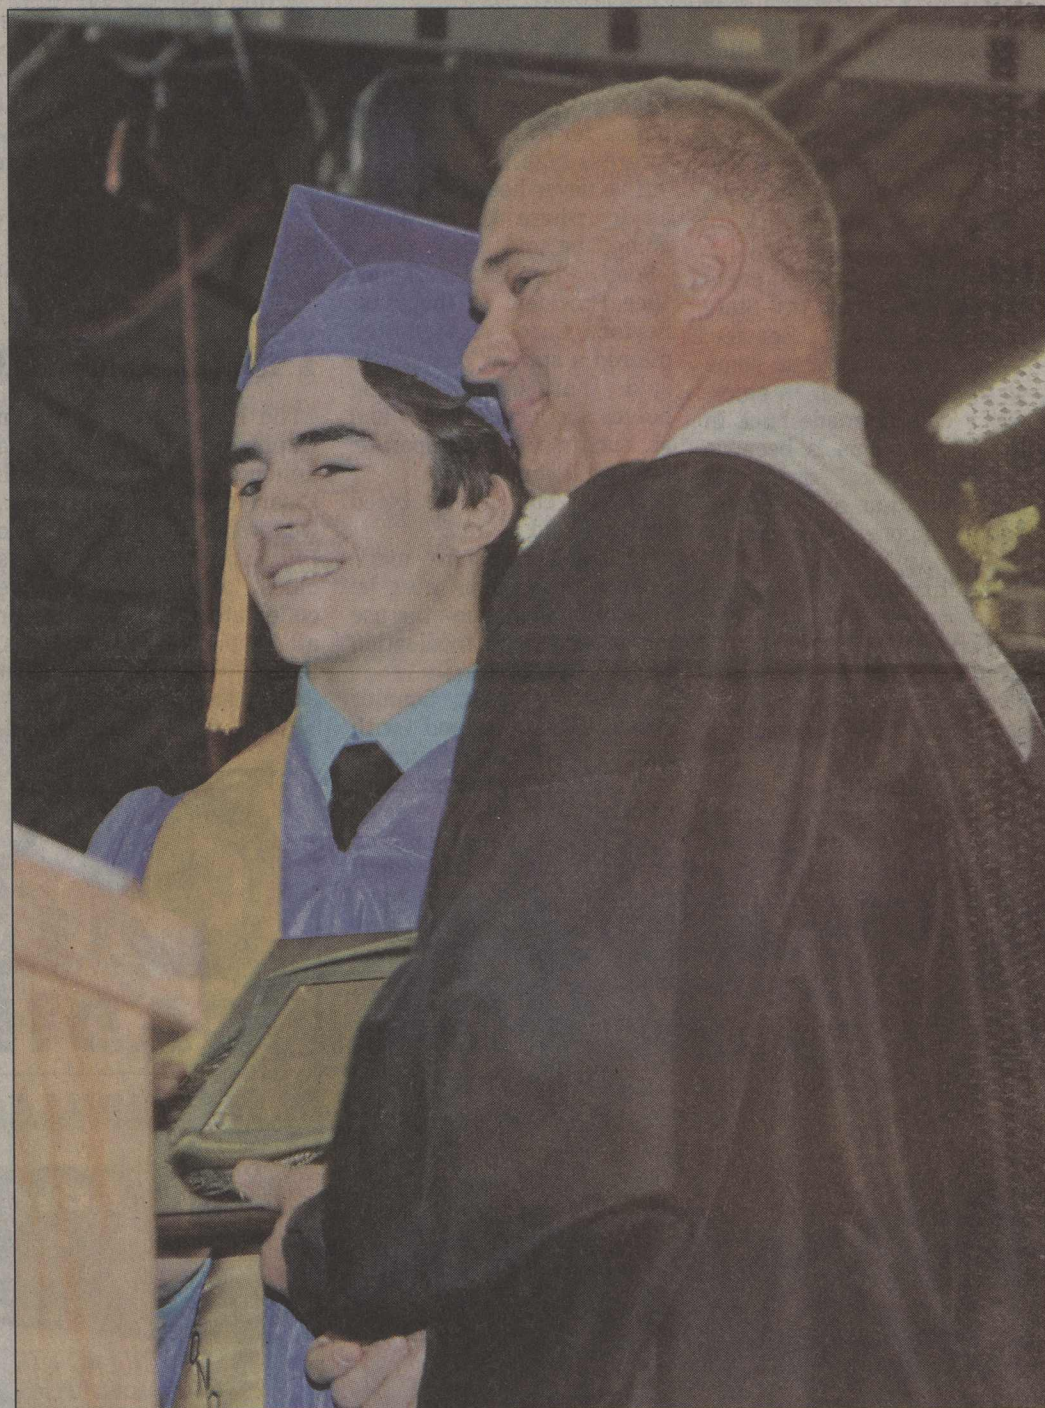

The book is dedicated to those who lost their lives that day, but in special memory of two Wilmington natives on American Airlines flight 11: Robert and Jacqueline Norton. The book is also dedicated to Tewksbury residents Peter Gay and Peter Hashem who were also on flight 11.

The Historical Commission wishes to extend an invitation to the general public for a book signing with Julie Fennell at the Town Museum, 430 Salem Street, on Sunday, June 9, 2013, from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. Books will be available for $10. All profits will go towards the construction of the 9/11 memorial planned for the courtyard of the new Wilmington High School.

"Wilmington Remembers 9/11" will also be available at other locations throughout Wilmington, including the Wilmington Senior Center, the Wilmington Memorial Library, and on Sunday, June 16th, Fennell will be at the Wilmington Farmer's Market.

Successful coach exits under cloud

Coach Kavanaugh out

By MIKE IPPOLITO & JAMIE POTE

Exactly a week after the team's most successful season in program history came to a close, Wilmington High School Boys Lacrosse head coach Kieran Kavanaugh said on Tuesday night that he has resigned from his post due to schedule conflicts.

Despite the historical season, the Town Crier has learned that many parents voiced their displeasure of Kavanaugh's coaching style to school officials all season long but the coach has denied that problems with parents was the reason for his resignation.

The Town Crier reached out to WHS Athletic Director Ed Harrison, Superintendent of Schools Joanne Benton and School Committee Chair Peggy Kane to have the matter clarified. Kane responded that she cannot comment on personnel matters. Calls to Harrison on Tuesday night and both Harrison and Benton Wednesday morning were not immediately returned.

Kavanaugh spent two seasons as the head coach after coming to WHS after being an assistant at Westford Academy. Prior to that he was a star attack player for the Daniel Webster College men's lacrosse team after growing up in East Lyme, Connecticut.

This past season Kavanaugh led the Wildcats to the program's first ever Middlesex League Freedom Division title with a regular season record of 14-4 record before losing in the first round of the state tournament last Tuesday at home to Holliston. Last year in his debut season behind the bench, the team finished 2-14 under Kavanaugh. He finishes with a combined record of 16-19.

Before Kavanaugh came on board, the program never had a winning season, never won a league title, and qualified for the state tournament just once in 2009 despite having a losing record.

Through an email that the Town Crier obtained, one Wilmington School Committee member acknowledged the problems between Kavanaugh and the parents/players and was relieved that the coach will not return next season. The email went onto say that his behavior as a head coach was unacceptable.

The Town Crier asked Kavanaugh to explain his side of the story, specifically if administrators asked him not to reapply for his position as head coach. He maintained that he resigned due to a busy schedule with other duties in the sport of lacrosse.

Kavanaugh is part owner of Massachusetts Lacrosse of Westford, where he and other coaches train lacrosse players of all ages, many of them college players who join team's with Kavanaugh's company after their college season has ended.

Kavanaugh is also an assistant coach with the Boston Cannons of the Major Lacrosse League (MLL), whose season runs from late April through July, and he has also been offered a college coaching position, which he will begin next season.

"Between working a lot at my lacrosse company and coaching with the Cannons it is very difficult to find the right amount of time to dedicate to the team," Kavanaugh said. "A lot of the college players have their season end in May and they are coming to our company while we would still have our high school season going on."

"It has been a dream of mine to coach in college," Kavanaugh continued. "When I was in college I got to see what kind of effect a coach could have on a team, both as athletes and as people. I wanted to be able to do the same."

While Kavanaugh was unable to reveal the college team he will be coaching next season, as the school will issue a press release in the coming weeks, he is very much looking forward to the opportunity to coach at the next level.

Kavanaugh and other members of the WHS coaching staff will not be attending the team's end of the year banquet, which he explained is due to a conflict with another unrelated lacrosse event. The Crier asked if he was not invited, a rumor he denies.

"That was a scheduling conflict," Kavanaugh said. "I am playing in the Harvard Classic on the day of the banquet. The coaches were a big part of the team this year and we would have loved to be there to hand out the trophies to these kids who worked so hard for us. Unfortunately we have a scheduling conflict and will not be able to be there."

Multiple complaints about Kavanaugh's coaching style have circled to the Town Crier throughout this season with parents stating their displeasure with his alleged "abusive coaching style" and his "unprofessionalism" with his players and game officials.

While Kavanaugh is looking forward to his future, he also looks very fondly back on his time with the Wildcats, particularly this past season when he and his team shocked nearly everybody with their outstanding season.

"When I took over for Mike Fay two years ago I wanted to continue with what he had started with the program," Kavanaugh said. "The first year under a new coach is always tough, but this year the players were buying in with our strategies on both offense and defense and we had a great season."

"It is very hard to leave. I really enjoyed my time coaching this team. It's been great to be part of the program here and I am hoping to see the mission continue."

Kieran Kavanaugh leaves his post with a 16-19 overall record which includes the program's first ever Middlesex League Division 2 League title. (photo by JoeBrownphotos.com).

Last Wednesday evening the Wilmington High School Senior Athletic Award Banquet was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall and six WHS student-athletes were recognized for their outstanding athletic careers. From left, Holly Niemiec and Erik Alatalo were named the Larry Cushing Memorial award recipients; Michelle Woods and Colin Doherty were both the winners of the Dr. Fagan award, and then Lauren McKenna and Brian Priem were named the Ding Driscoll Award winners. ## All-State Track-and-Field Meet

Six locals compete and four advance to NE Meet

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

WESTFIELD -- Six local student-athletes from Wilmington and Tewksbury participated in this past weekend's All-State Track-and-Field Meet held at Westfield State University, and four of the six placed in the top six of their respective event meaning they will now compete in this weekend's New England Championship Meet to be held in Connecticut.

Tewksbury will send three individuals to the neighboring state including Chelsea Porcaro, John Fiorello and Eddie Matovu, and Wilmington's lone representative will be senior Pat Barry.

Porcaro competed in two events at the All-State Meet placing fifth in the javelin throwing 122-04 and ninth in the discus with a toss of 110-02.

"For Chelsea, making the All State final in two events is an incredible accomplishment in her first season (with the track team)," said Tewksbury Memorial High School Girls Track coach John Byrnes. "She started out this season as our top shot putter and just sort of migrated over to the javelin and discus as she grew more comfortable. So to see it end this way is fantastic."

Byrnes said that Porcaro had the tough task of bouncing between both events, which really limited her time to warm-up and focus.

"I think the toughest thing for Chelsea and (Assistant) Coach (Dave) Tousignant during the meet was going back and forth like last week. Unfortunately, both her events were scheduled to go off at the exact same time, and that meant a lot of running back and forth and switching footwear and such."

In the past three weeks, Porcaro won the MVC Javelin event with the eighth best throw in the country, before winning the Class B State Title and now finishing fifth in the entire state, all in her first season participating on the track team after playing softball as a freshman and not playing any spring sport last year.

"Probably the best thing for Chelsea these last three championship weeks was all the experience she gathered," said Byrnes. "She made six throws in each discipline at MVCs, States, and All-States, and I think she'll find that will be of enormous benefit to her next year."

"She was happy to get on the podium in the javelin, and she'll be looking forward to one last competition next week in Connecticut."

Speaking of javelin, WHS senior Pat Barry placed sixth with a personal best throw of 170-feet, which puts him into the New England Championship Meet.

"Pat Barry had a great day in the javelin with a personal best throw of 170'0", placing sixth and qualifying for New England's this coming weekend in New Britain, Connecticut," said Wildcat boys head coach Mike Kinney. "Pat is capping off an outstanding athletic career at Wilmington High and it was nice to see him rise to the occasion. Pat is also one of the top ranked athletes competing in the State Decathlon championship this week. He is going to have a busy week."

The other two athletes to place in the top six this past weekend were Tewksbury High senior John Fiorello in the shot put and junior Eddie Matovu in the 100-meter hurdles. Fiorello was fifth in the shot put throwing 54-01.25.

"I was more impressed with the fact that he had five of his six throws above the 50-foot mark," said Redmen Boys head coach Bill Meuse. "His ability to compete with the states best is really great to see. Coach Tousignant has worked really hard with John to create consistency and the results definitely showed on Saturday. John will be not only be looking for consistency at the New England Championship meet but he will be looking to improve on his seasons best throw."

Matovu placed sixth in the hurdles with a time of 14.91 seconds, and he is also competing for one final week.

"Eddie Matovu has now moved him self into a group of elite hurdlers. His sixth place finished with a time of 14.91 was really outstanding," said Meuse. "He has worked himself into this position and now he will have a chance to showcase his ability in front of New England's best. With his attitude, I'm sure Eddie won't just be happy to be there, he will want to make an impact."

Tewksbury High senior Cory Cataldo also competed in the 100-meter hurdles finishing 11th in the entire state with a time of 15.24.

Wilmington High School senior Pat Barry (holding javelin) is all smiles after he placed sixth at the All-State this past Saturday. He celebrated his performance with his family, Mom and Dad, Kathleen and Rick and two of his brothers Tom and Rich. (courtesy photo).

"Cory Cataldo ended his unbelievable career on Saturday with a very fast time of 15.24 which just kept him out of the finals," said Meuse. "He ended up finishing eleventh in the state in high hurdles. I'm very proud to be able to a part of the great career that he has had with us."

"I thought all three kids performed to the best of their abilities and fortunately for Eddie and Fiorello it was enough to move on to New England's," said Meuse. "All three of them should be very proud of themselves for even making it this far, it is really an unbelievable feat."

The final two individuals to compete were WHS juniors Eli Jennings and Kelly Hartsough. Jennings competed in both the discus and shot put. He finished 13th in the state in the discus tossing 135-08 and was 18th in the shot put tossing 48-04.25.

"Eli was disappointed that he didn't do his personal best but he as a junior he is looking forward to returning to the All-State meet next year," said Kinney.

"Sometimes in Track-and-Field and the throwing events in particular, athletes can hit their technique perfectly or can miss it just slightly. He had a great season which was highlighted by winning the Division 3 State championship in the discus."

Finally Hartsough became the first WHS Female to compete in the all-states since Cali Pepper back in 2009 and she finished 18th in the state in the 800-meter run with a time of 2:23.31.

Redmen ousted by Falcons in first round

By JAMIE POTE
Sports Editor

DANVERS — In order for them to come out with an upset victory, the Tewksbury Memorial High School Baseball team needed to play excellent defense and need to take advantage of its offensive opportunities. Neither of those things happened and for the fifth time since 2005, the Redmen were knocked out of the state tournament by Danvers.

Last Friday night at Twi-Field, Tewksbury gave up four runs in the second inning on one hit and three errors and on the other side had a big chance to score in the top of the first with the bases loaded and then didn't do hardly anything with the bats thereafter which all led to the 5-0 win for Danvers in a Division 2 North Quarterfinal match-up. Tewksbury ends the season with a 7-14 record and Danvers improved to 19-3 overall.

"When we play solid defense we're a pretty good team but when we give teams 22, 23 and 24 outs a game, we got beat and too many times this season that happened to us," said head coach Ron Drouin. "We played hard and I'm proud of the kids for that. They played with great energy throughout the entire game. But we kicked the ball around three times and we just didn't play tight defense in this game."

Tewksbury started out strong in the top of the first as Dom Rosado and Cam Oliveira singled and those hits eventually led to Tewksbury to a bases loaded one out situation but it was ended when Zak DiRocco hit into a double play to end the threat.

"He was safe on the back end of the double play," said Drouin. "But right before that Danvers picked off Alex Hamilton at first and Alex was out but the umpire called him safe so I guess the two (bad calls) washed out."

Thereafter Tewksbury could manage any scoring chances against Danvers who played errorless baseball all night.

Freshman Brett Morris went the first three innings before being relieved by senior Tim Sughrue, who again did a real nice job falling one out shy of going three innings.

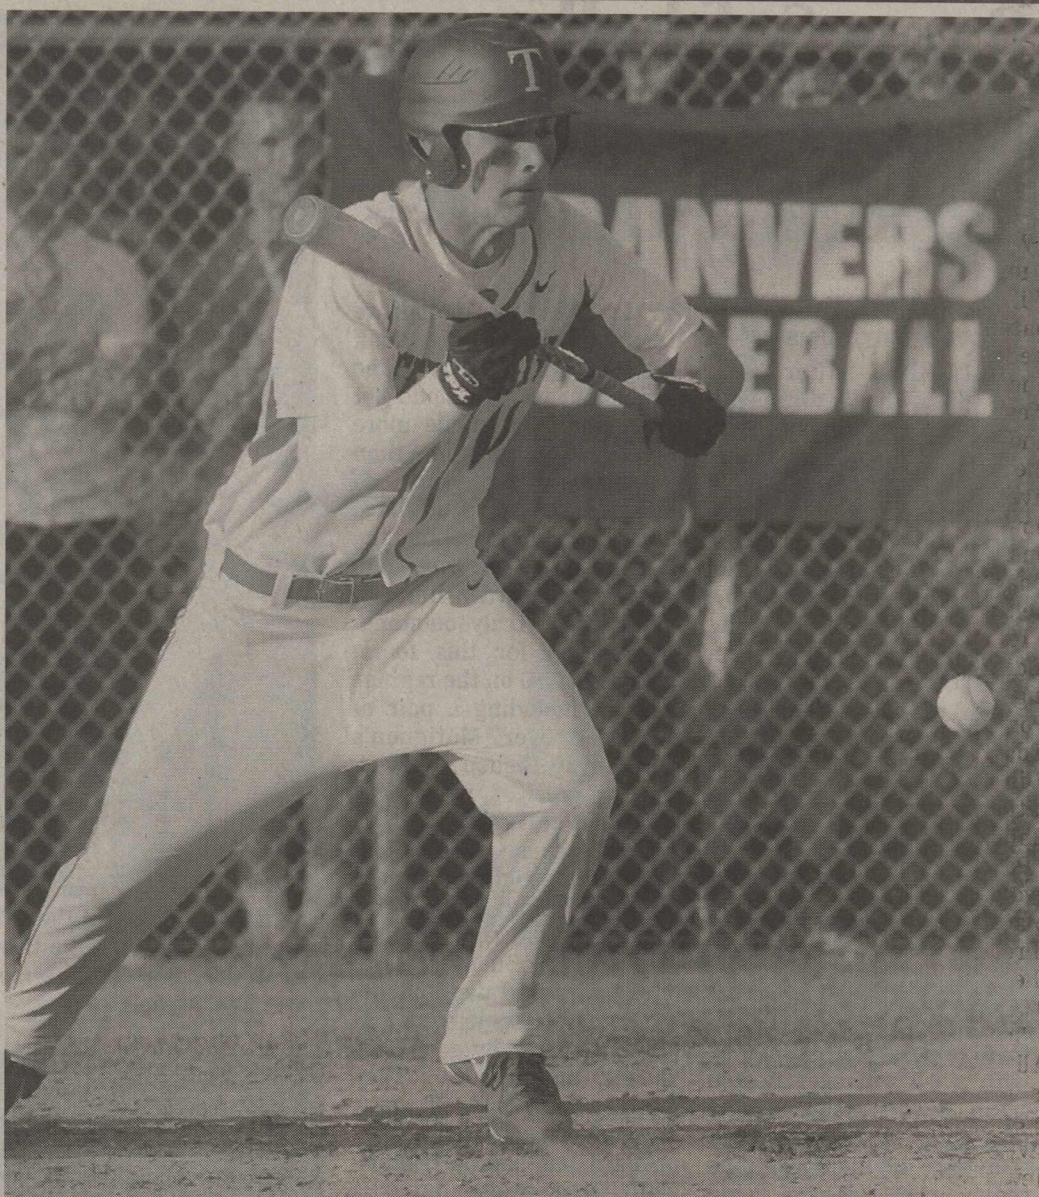

"Tim did a real nice job in this game letting us hang in there just like he did for us all season," said Drouin.

Tewksbury ended the season going 7-7 in its final 14 games after starting out 0-7.

"I think it's a credit to the kids," said Drouin. "They started out 0-7 and came back to win seven games but also win the Lawrence tournament and qualify for the state tournament. We lost a coin flip and if it was the other way around, we could very well be still playing. But I'm proud of the team for hanging in there and I'm especially proud of the entire senior group for everything they did, and doing things the right way all season long."

Drouin was referring to a coin flip that Tewksbury had with fellow MVC team Dracut. Tewksbury so-called won the coin flip and was seeded No. 15 and had to take on Danvers, while, No. 16 seed North Andover and No. 17 seed Dracut played each other in a preliminary round game in order to face the No. 1 seed Boston English. Dracut defeated North Andover 4-2 and Boston English 8-6 and then went on to defeat Arlington 1-0 and will be playing in the sectional semi-finals.

Under 14 Softball team takes home title

The Tewksbury Girls Softball League's 14 and Under team took home first place in the fourth annual Think Pink Softball tournament held May 17-19.

This annual event has become one of the most popular events in the softball season.

There were 17 teams in the 14U age pool, and the Redmen went 7-0 with five of those seven wins coming by the run ahead rule. The weekend started out on Friday where the Redmen took on the Show Stoppers.

Redmen pitcher Adrianna Favreau threw a no-hitter and only allowed one base runner by way of a walk. The potent Redmen offense was lead by Molly Robertson and Emily Velozo while Karina Crowley scored a run as the Redmen racked up 12 runs in three-plus innings to win by the run rule 12-0.

Saturday, the Redmen continued their winning ways by taking on The Westford Waves. Erika Whynot took the ball in the circle as she held the Waves to three runs. Marissa Doherty, Kirsten Dick, Nora Butler, and Colleen MacNeil all led the way offensively for the Redmen as they won the game 15-3.

The Newton Panthers were next up for the Redmen, and the Redmen had to come from behind with two big rbis from Butler and Doherty to top Newton 6-4 and secure the pools No. 1 seed for the elimination round on Sunday. Sundays cooler temperature did nothing to slow the white hot Redmen offense.

The first game had the Redmen matched up with an very good hitting Central Mass Destruction team. Defense in the outfield and extra base hitting was the story. Outfielders Doherty and Velozo tracked down every ball hit to the outfield.

The Redmen had a strong offensive showing with extra base hits by Christina Noyes and Favreau, ending with a well played 10-2 win.

The quarterfinal game had the Redmen play the Central Mass Storm. The Redmen scored early and often as this one was over 8-0, with Doherty, Noyes, and Whynot on the bases all game.

The semi-finals were next as the Redmen took their third game in a row. Needing a win to get the finals, the Redmen gave the ball to Whynot who held the Granite Gamers Green to two runs. Catcher Nicole Petherbridge and second baseman Robertson anchored down the Redmen defense.

Again it was Noyes, Butler, Favreau, and Doherty swinging the hot bats for the Redmen. The total team effort was rewarded by a 10-2 run rule.

In the finals the Redmen took on the Chelmsford Blue Crush. Redmen pitcher Favreau allowed only three hits and had a key hit of her own. Petherbridge had a key single, lining one off the third base bag, for the Redmen's first run. Dick scored the second run, and the Redmen got themselves a little room in the sixth inning, with a one out double by Whynot, and rbi doubles by Favreau and Robertson. Jess Reposa plated a big insurance run for the Redmen.

MacNeil, Robertson, Doherty, Butler, and Whynot played amazing defense, while Petherbridge finished a long day behind the plate as the Redmen sealed the final outs for the 4-1 win.

Tewksbury Girls Softball League would also like to thank all of the Volunteers that worked on the fields and in the concession stand as well as the Tewksbury Town Managers office, Tewksbury Little League and the Tewksbury Parks Department for their help and cooperation in making the weekend and enjoyable one for all the teams.

Tewksbury Youth Travel Soccer weekend round-up

BOYS Under 14-1

Tewksbury 4, Lowell 2

Tewksbury BU14-1 team faced off with Lowell for a Thursday night game before the Memorial Day weekend. The contest pitted the first place Tewksbury Redmen against the second place Lowell Red Raiders. Lowell came in with just one loss, having been defeated by the Redmen earlier in the season. The outcome was repeated again as Tewksbury pinned another loss on the Lowell team, winning by a score of 4-2.

Lowell started the game with the strong wind at their back and took full advantage of it. They started the scoring, getting the first goal just four minutes in with a high crossing pass that was headed into the far corner. Tewksbury took a defensive stance because the wind was like a twelfth man so the Redmen played with only one forward. After giving up that first goal, the Tewksbury middies and defenders attacked every loose ball. Defenders Connor Dane and Ethan Hepler were busy keeping the ball outside the penalty area.

While they generated very little offense, the Redmen did prevent any further serious threats thanks to midfielders Cody Souza and Akash Ranjit matching Lowell's physical play in the middle of the field. Keeper Jeff Carr was able to handle all the shots because they either came from very far out or were not struck well. Tewksbury had one break in the first half at the 14:00 mark when Eric Gallant blasted the ball from his end into open space on Lowell's side of the field. The lone attacker, Chris McCabe gathered up the ball and was pressing toward Lowell's goal when he was tripped in the penalty area. Ameen Kalkhoran was called upon to take the penalty kick, and he looked left and kicked right easily finding the back of the net to tie the game.

Ending the first half with a tie score after facing the strong wind was a small victory for the Redmen. Knowing they would have the wind advantage in the second half they attacked more. More of the action was on Lowell's half of the field and the Redmen went on top in the twelfth minute when Brendan Murray pestered the Lowell middle into making a mistake. Murray poked the ball away in Chris McCabe's direction. With some open space around him just outside the penalty area, McCabe hit the top left corner with a shot the Lowell keeper had no chance to save.

Two minutes later the Redmen doubled their lead when Adam Colon made a nice header pass to Rafael Perez. Perez eluded the Lowell midfielder and passed back to Jack Bicknell who was in a perfect support position. Using the momentum from the back pass, Bicknell blasted the ball from the right side, 25 yards out and hit the top right corner again. Good teams don't quit and Lowell continued to play well. They managed to mount an attack with good passing. They put another ball in the net in the 25th minute and got themselves within one goal of tying the game. But that's as close as they would come when just four minutes later, Mike Flynn passed to Adam Colon who buried another shot into the top right corner, this one coming from 35 yards out. That proved to be the final score for this game, and if these two teams meet again it will be in the Commissioner's Cup Tournament.

Tewksbury 5, Chelmsford 0

Tewksbury BU14-1 team took on the Chelmsford Lions on Saturday in the heat and humidity. With a win, the Redmen (8-0-1) would clinch first place in division 2A and guarantee a trip to the Commissioner's Cup tournament. Chelmsford (5-3) has proven to be a solid team this year, fighting for second place with the Lowell Red Raiders. But with first place as their motivation, the Redmen blew out Chelmsford with a convincing 5-0 win, notching their seventh shutout in nine games.

Tewksbury wasted little time getting on the board, scoring in just the third minute of the game. On a throw-in, Rafael Perez launched his throw from the sideline all the way to the front of the Chelmsford goal. Chris McCabe controlled the ball and tapped it to the right side where Cody Souza was positioned. Souza hit the back of the net from six yards out and it was 1-0.

Chelmsford was a tough opponent in the early going and kept the Redmen from any good shots until midway through the half. Tewksbury's second goal was again started by a throw-in. This time, Ethan Hepler got the ball to his attacker in open space. Taking Hepler's throw, Ameen Kalkhoran used his body to keep the defender off the ball and maneuvered around him. Three quick touches got Kalkhoran into position with only the goal keeper to beat and Ameen drilled it into the short side before the keeper could even react. As expected, the Lions were a tough opponent and had one good scoring chance of their own as their midfielder blasted the ball from his own side of the field into open space. The Chelmsford forward ran past the last defender and was closing in on the through ball. But keeper Jeff Carr beat the attacker to the ball, leaving his position in the goalie box to handle the ball safely.

Chelmsford kept attacking with their forwards spread out nicely. On one sequence, the Chelmsford striker was trying to dribble around the defense, but Connor Dane stepped up and literally went toe-to-toe with the attacker and proved to have the stronger foot as he won the ball in their one-on-one battle and was able to kill that attack. If Chelmsford thought they would make a game of this match, it was quickly relieved of that notion when Tewksbury got two quick goals to start the second half.

Two minutes into it, Chris McCabe made it 3-0 thanks to some fancy footwork by Adam Colon. Colon eluded two defenders to get him some room to work deep in the right corner. Colon gave it back to Jack Bicknell who sent it across the middle of the goal area where McCabe was waiting, burying it from ten yards, dead center. Zach Bennett played perhaps his best game of the season, attacking the ball when Chelmsford had possession. At the 6:00 mark, Bennett took the ball away from the Chelmsford midfielder and got a pass away to Kalkhoran who only had to beat one defender. That's usually no contest and Ameen was able to win that battle and score into the bottom left corner.

Tewksbury completely dominated from this point on and had several good scoring chances. Mike Flynn found himself in good position a couple of times, his best chance hitting the crossbar. Defenders Eric Gallant and Akash Ranjit were able to stand at the midfield stripe for most of the half and just kept pounding the ball back into the Chelmsford end. Tewksbury's fifth goal came with just two minutes left, but that was just a formality as it was clear very early in the second half that this game would end with a shutout victory for the Redmen. They will wrap up their regular season with one more game and play in the Commissioner's Cup on June 22.

GIRLS Under 14-1

Tewksbury 2, Malden 2

Last Wednesday night the team met Malden at Frasca field for a chance at sole possession of first place.

The Lions were shorthanded with only two substitutes and the Redman had several dinged up players and one player on the bench, sidelined with a concussion. Malden struck first with a dribbler that slid past the Tewksbury defense and then keeper Lindsay Harris. This would be the first time the team had to play from behind all season which would be an adjustment for them. Back on their heels, the Redmen allowed Malden to disrupt their play as they continued to kick the ball over their heads and the Redmen were caught back pedaling.

The Lions struck again in the first half as their striker put a shot on net and it ricocheted off a Malden player and into the net. The dominant team was not winning the game as it was Tewksbury who had more shots on net. Malden scored two goals while the Redmen pounded the Lions keeper with hard shots. All the Tewksbury shots were either wide or high. Emily Sessa rang the post on one of her many shots in the first half as the Redmen were denied a goal in the first half. Forwards Kayla Makooi, Kayla Devlin, Maggie Penta, Steph Graffeo, and Allison Piricini all worked the ball well in the Malden zone but could not find the back of the net.

The Redmen came out on fire in the second half and overcame the two goal deficit with some very hard work.

Midfielder Sam Mercurio made a nice crossing pass to Devlin who snuck it by the Lion's keeper to finally get Tewksbury on the board. This sparked the players as their intensity level was unsurpassed. Izzy Picher had many well placed corner kicks in the second half while Maddy Wescott and Jess Cacciola joined the forwards on their continued onslaught of shots on the Malden keeper. Their keeper stood tall and had an excellent game turning most of their shots away. Sessa had a penalty shot on a bid to tie the game but the Malden keeper deflected her shot and Malden maintained their slim lead.

The Tewksbury defense had a different look in this game as Sam Surowiec was injured but their dominance in the second half proved to be top notch. Rachel Sessa, Victoria Mirabito, Kelly Fortier, and Andrea DiCiacio kept the ball on the Malden half of the field almost the entire second half. Harris didn't need to make a save in the second half after her busy first half. Rachel Sessa took several direct kicks but the Malden keeper denied her each time. Picher, Penta, and Emily Sessa seemed to be all over the place most of the second half as the entire team came together to put on an offensive show. They were finally rewarded for their hard work on a corner kick. Picher placed the ball into open space and Mirabito read her mind and moved into the open space and one timed the ball into the net. The Malden keeper never even saw it coming. The score was now tied and the Redmen kicked their offensive pressure to a new level but the Malden keeper kept turning them away. Their keeper single handedly kept this game tied.

Makooi made a great centering pass to Devlin but once again the Malden keeper denied her and the whistle blew to end the game. The team will get the Memorial Day weekend off to rest and heal their many injuries and they will meet up with Lowell the following Saturday to defend their undefeated season. Tewksbury and Malden each earned a point and remain tied for first place in the MYSL standings.

Tewksbury 5, Lowell 0
The two Redmen goalies combined for another shut out as Tewksbury remains undefeated on the season and tied for first place. Lindsay Harris started the game in net and was not tested and Sam Mercurio moved back to goalie after playing a good game at mid-field in the first half.

The team took to the field at noon on Saturday and the blazing heat didn't slow them down. Jess Cacciola got the scoring started as she scored on the opening play of the game. Soon after Stephanie Graffeo made a nice pass to Emily Sessa who drilled it past the Lowell goalie and just minutes later this duo struck again to give the Redmen a commanding 3-0. The team was shorthanded and with the heat many players were rotating in and out of positions that they don't normally play but this didn't seem to deter the team. The defense had a new look once again with Andrea DiCiacco away and Sam Surowiec still out with an injury; Maddy Wescott started the game on the right side. Kelly Fortier on the left, Victoria Mirabito at sweeper and Rachel Sessa at stopper completed the defense and they did not disappoint and kept the Lowell attack away from their net. Rachel Sessa has perfected her direct kick and scored to the end the first half with a score of 4-0.

Strong play from Maggie Penta, Izzy Picher, Alison Piricini, and Kayla Devlin kept the Red Raiders frustrated in the first half as all the mids and forwards moved the ball well and took numerous shots on net.

Kayla Makooi almost got her first goal of the season but it was not meant to be as the Redmen continued their offensive pounding with Mirabito and Wescott moving to offense, Harris to mid-field for her first action in the field all season, and Picher moving back on defense. Wescott got the last goal of the game on a nice shot over the goalie's head. With Mercurio standing tall in the Redmen goal the Red Raiders came up empty.

GU10-4

Tewksbury 2, Westford 0

The GU10-4 team has been carrying their great teamwork and versatility from game to game, and this one was no different. The game was a scorcher, with the temperature in the high 80's at game time. Madison Robillard took her turn in net as the game started, with Alex Fowler, Hayley Taber, and Marykate Callinan on offense, and Michelle Hinkle and Megan Boudreau on defense. Tewksbury dominated play, and the next line of Klara Holden, Caitlyn Finnegan, Hannah Keane and Emma Fleming kept up the aggressive play.

The girls all showed their skills at different positions, with defenders becoming offensive players and offensive players taking a turn at defense. Holden and Finnegan each had near misses with some great shots on goal. Callinan made a great defensive play, stealing an open-goal opportunity from Westford. On both offense and defense Keane and Boudreau out-hustled Westford, despite the heat. Robillard had several saves, including the stopping a 2-1 surge from Westford, and the half ended scoreless.

Tewksbury gained a player in the second half with Jade Owirka, and the team again started strong. Michelle Hinkle started the second half as keeper, and the defensive tandem of Robillard and Owirka kept her well protected. The offense of Flemming and Fowler constantly tested the Westford defense.

Tewksbury got on the scoreboard when Taber intercepted a Westford goal kick and buried the ball in the back of the goal. Westford came back strong several times but Hinkle performed a string of great saves to keep the score still at 1-0. Tewksbury rallied back when Finnegan sent a fantastic pass to Taber, who booted the ball over the Westford goalie's head to put the score at 2-0.

GU10-6

Tewksbury 2, Billerica 2

Devils were lead onto the field by game captains Catia Melo and Emily Walker. Ryan Williams started in net for the Devils. With the sidelines thin staffed the Devils mustered an all-out battle to score two quick goals on Billerica. The first goal came from Iris Diaz-Archilla at the five minute mark from an assist from Tory Sweeney. The Devils second goal came from Emily Walker. This was Walkers first career goal which came unassisted at the seven minute mark.

The defense of Julia Kirby and Catia Melo held off Billerica's advances and only allowed several shots on goal which were turned away by Williams. To close the first half Billerica was able to jump on the scoreboard and push a shot past Williams at the twenty-four minute mark. At the end of the first half Tewksbury lead 2-1.

The start of the second half Arianna Dawson started in net and with fresh legs on the sideline the Devils controlled the passing game once again. The Devils had several opportunities to score coming from Abby Hayes, Tory Sweeney, Ryan Williams and Iris Diaz-Archilla. The defense of Mackenzie Dawson Julia Kirby and Catia Melo help hold Billerica to only one goal until a breakaway up the middle allowed Billerica to get a low shot past Arianna Dawson at the 14 minute mark of the second half. The Devils continued to battle back with shots going wide off of the foot of Williams, Walker, and Hayes but they were unable to capitalize on these chances. The Devils tied Billerica for the second time with a final score of 2-2.

Woburn 7, Tewksbury 0

The Devils were lead onto the field by Ryan Williams and Iris Diaz-Archilla. The Devils quickly took charge of the game and had multiple scoring chances coming from Kaitlyn Oates, Troy Sweeney, and Iris Diaz-Archilla. Arianna Dawson who started in goal for the Devils had several key saves to help keep Woburn off the scoreboard. The Devils dominated the play for the first 12 minutes of the first half with decisive play from its defense of Abby Hayes, Mackenzie Dawson, and Julia Kirby. The surprised Woburn team quickly settled down and scored their first goal at the 13 minute mark off a free kick that just got past the hands of Arianna Dawson.

As the heat climbed the Devils could not generate an offensive strike in the remaining ten minutes of play of the first half. This allowed Woburn to capitalize and they were able to score three more goals to close the first half out with a lead of 4-0.

With the start of the second half the Devils went into a defensive game play and held Woburn at bay. The fast offense of Woburn was able to get two goals past Ryan Williams at the nine and ten minute mark. After two crossing passes to the middle. Midway in the second half Arianna Dawson returned to the goaltending duties to close out the game and only allowed one other goal at the fourteen minute mark of the second half. The Devils fell to Woburn for the second time losing 7-0.

GU10-5

Tewksbury 3, Waltham 1

The U10-5 team was coming off a loss to Dracut, and the team was determined to get back on the winning track. Tewksbury had tied Waltham at the start of the season. Tewksbury scored first, as Maci Chapman beat two defenders to cross the ball to Ashlyn Nawn. Nawn scored before the goalie had a chance to get into position. Erica Hinkle started the game as goalie, keeping the Waltham team scoreless. Rebecca Langone and Gabriella Ortiz combined for their usual aggressive defense. Christina Wentworth, Allison Costello and Grace Beckman constantly challenged the Waltham defenders. Brianna Gagnon added more power to the Tewksbury defense. Chapman had a second assist when she passed to Isabel Desisto at midfield. Desisto used her great footwork to beat the defender and put the ball into goal, making the score now 2-0.

After halftime, Waltham came out rested and scored to make it 2-1. Tewksbury regrouped to play some great defense. Nawn, Beckman and Ortiz all had turns in net, and all stopped shots from Waltham. Wentworth, Costello and Langone kept up the defensive protection of the goalies. Beckman switched to offense and chalked up an assist when Gagnon scored off one of her passes, making the score 3-1. Hinkle and Desisto continued the offensive push, each having shots on goal with some rebounding off the posts. The game ended with Tewksbury winning 3-1.

Tewksbury 6, Westford 0

Tewksbury entered the game strong after a win in their last game. Gabriella Ortiz started in goal to anchor the team, with defensive aces Rebecca Langone, Isabel Desisto and Ashlyn Nawn providing protection in the backfield. Grace Beckman, Maci Chapman, Christina Wentworth, Brianna Gagnon and Erica Hinkle formed different offensive lines during the first half. Tewksbury had many shots on goal, with Hinkle, Gagnon and Chapman teaming up on the Westford goalie. Beckman had her turn making some saves in goal, Desisto moved to forward and Nawn and Ortiz took defensive positions.

Tewksbury went up 1-0 when Chapman put one past the Westford goalie. Desisto showed off her great passing skills, Wentworth did not shy away from challenging their opponents for the ball and Gagnon pulled off more shots on goal. Hinkle moved into goal before the half ended 1-0.

In the second half, Tewksbury turned up the heat. Gagnon passed to Wentworth, who kicked the ball over the Westford goalie's head putting Tewksbury up 2-0. Tewksbury's defense continued to shine, as Desisto, Nawn and Langone constantly intercepted Westford at mid-field and Ortiz showed her keeper and punting skills. The forwards benefited from the great defense as Gagnon and Hapman took a teammate's defensive feed on a 2-1 attack, with Chapman scoring a goal.

Tewksbury maintained the pressure, getting the chance at several corner kicks. Ortiz placed one corner kick through the defenders to a perfectly positioned Chapman for Tewksbury's fourth goal. The defensive team came up big again, with Beckman in goal recording more saves. Langone challenged the Westford offense, getting the ball fed up to Chapman. Chapman took the ball to the net, scoring goal five for Tewksbury. Tewksbury was still playing hard, despite the heat, as Gagnon took a turn in goal. Hinkle intercepted a Westford goal kick, dribbled into the zone and kicked it past the goalie for Tewksbury's 6th and final goal.

GU10-6

Westford 4, Tewksbury 0

At just past the midway point in the season the Tewksbury girls U10-6 3B travel team struggle to find their first win. The Devils were lead onto the field by game captains Tory Sweeney and Abby Hayes. Despite the 4-0 loss to Westford the Devils continue to show strong passing skills and aggressive play.

Westford was able to jump quickly onto the scoreboard with two goals at the six and seven minute mark. Westford was able to work past the Devils rotating defense of Julia Kirby, Abby Hayes, Mackenzie Dawson and Catia Mello to get two low shots past Arianna Dawson who started in net. With the Devils strong passing from Ryan Williams, Iris Diaz-Archilla, Tory Sweeney, Kaitlyn Oates, and Emily Walker allowed them to carry the play in the Westford half of the field for nearly ten minutes.

The Devils had several shots on goal from Iris Diaz-Archilla, Emily Walker, and Kaitlyn Oates. Westford was able to break out and get their third shot on goal which was turned away by Dawson. Westford was then able to close the first half with two more goals at the seventeen and nineteen minute mark to take a 4-0 lead. The Devils returned to the field in the second half with Iris Diaz Archilla taking on the role of goalie.

The Devils continued with their strong passing combinations and carried the first minutes of play. Diaz-Archilla was able to make several key saves and make some key punts to midfield to spark several scoring opportunities off long runs by Emily Walker, Kaitlyn Oates and Abby Hayes. The Devils defenses was able to turn away the Westford advances and were able to keep pressure off Diaz-Archilla and Dawson who returned to net midway through the second half.

The determined offensive line had only a few chances with time running out with Abby Hayes having a strong shot on net and Iris Diaz-Archilla who muscled her way into the goal twice box to miss wide. The Devils fell to Westford 4-0.

Above, The MC Falcons - N.E. Rush GU14 team capped another stellar season by capturing the GU14 Premier Championship in the NESO Soccer tournament held on Cape Cod over Memorial Day weekend. This season saw the girls crowned Div. 1 Maple Champions as well as also winning the Rush Cup tournament in VA during March earlier this year.

Missing from photo is Olivia O'Regan. And below, The Wilmington Boys U10-3 team traveled to Danvers over Memorial Day Weekend to play in a regional soccer tournament. The tournament consisted of two games on Saturday and two more on Sunday. The Wilmington Wildcats drew North Andover in the first game and won 5-0, before eating Danvers 5-1. On Sunday morning Wilmington faced an over-matched Triton team. Triton gave a real good effort, however Wilmington came away with the 11-1 win. This set up a matchup of two unbeaten teams as the Wildcats faced the Portsmouth (Rhode Island) Pirates. The game was tight until late in the first half when the Wilmington boys exerted their wills on the Pirates and opened up a commanding 5-0 lead. The second half was much of the same as they cruised to an 8-0 victory. The team includes: Tyler Rourke, Liam Dwyer, Matt Ardito, AJ Lavigne, Adam Leblanc, Joey Dynan, Aidan O'Connell, Tommy Mallinson, Evan Lovine, Gavin Erickson, and Willie Stuart. # Tewksbury Boys U15 Red Lacrosse team defeats Waltham

BU15B-Red

Tewksbury 6, Waltham 2
Tewksbury Boys Lacrosse U15B Red once again dominated their game both offensively and defensively with a 6-2 win over Waltham-Red. The defense lead by Jamesie Cash (goalie and Captain), Matthew Andrea, Ryan Indingaro, Ryan Wackrow and Matt Wagner held the opponents to two goals during the entire game.

Matt Wagner stepped in to fill for a missing defensive position and contributed with great clears, a good hustle on ground balls, and also substitutions on attack when needed. Three individuals contributed six goals - Mitchell Andrea had a hat trick, Patrick Jollimore (Captain) put two in net, and Nick Paolillo scored his first goal of the regular season. There were two fantastic assists during the game to help Mitchell with his hat-trick. One came from Connor Doherty and the other from Patrick Jollimore, both were text book plays.

BU11

Tewksbury 7, Groton 6

Groton drew first blood in this U11 Powerhouse battle. Caden Connors responded with a defensive rush up the field to put Tewksbury on the board. Willie Mo McKay put the Blue Team up with a nice wrap up around the goal on feed pass from Sean Fahey. Groton struck right back with the 1st Quarter ending in a 2-2 tie. Both squads exchanged goals twice with Willie Mo and Cole Stone both adding one more each, Groton came right back with two of their own bringing it to a 4-4 tie at the half.

The third quarter was a hard fought battle for both teams, Kyle Darrigo, Lucas Tryder, Asa DeRoche all playing hard fighting defense. Dan Lee, Gavin Thomassett, Daedon Bere and Jonah Bennett were all pounding ground balls which then led to great shots on Groton's goal.

Groton took the lead 6-4 in the third quarter. After a team pep talk, Will McKay cut Groton's lead to 6-5 game. With two minutes remaining on a free ball possession, Sean Fahey ran in from the corner under cover and scored to tie the game at 6-6 pushing the game into overtime. In Sudden Death overtime, Willie Mo McKay ran around the goal and put in a great leaping corner shot to give the Blue Team a 7-6 victory.

Kyle Darrigo stopped four shots in second half as did Asa DeRoche in the first half goaltending duties.

Tewksbury Blue finishes the regular season at 8-0.

This past Wednesday, the WHS Girls Lacrosse team was defeated by Marblehead in the first round of the state tournament. The Twins jumped out to a 3-0 lead against the Pirates in the first inning on runs by Adrianna Favreau, Lauren Whelton and Colleen MacNeil. ## North Reading's Kelly navigates oceanography across the globe

By PAUL FEELY

Joshua Kelly unexpectedly found himself on a ship in the middle of the Mediterranean Sea on his very first week as a student at the University of Rhode Island's Graduate School of Oceanography.

"Talk about being thrown into the fire," said the native of North Reading. "But it was a blast!"

Kelly graduated on May 18 with a Master's Degree in Geological Oceanography, and he has since spent some time looking back nostalgically on that first expedition aboard the E/V Nautilus, a research ship that broadcasts its scientific expeditions live over the Internet 24/7.

"I was on watch when we discovered a sunken World War II airplane, and my Dad was watching on the Internet from home and he recognized the plane," Kelly said with amazement. "I was on board to discover it, and my dad was there remotely to identify it. It was a once in a lifetime experience."

The purpose of Kelly's time aboard the ship was to study Foerstner volcano, an underwater volcano off the coast of Italy that erupted in 1891 and produced what he called "floating lava balloons," lava rocks that floated to the surface and have only been observed five times in human history.

"The characteristics of the magma and the eruption itself were very peculiar," explained Kelly, who earned his bachelor's degree in geosciences from URI in 2011. "It was a very shallow water eruption that allowed for conditions that favored the production of extremely low density eruptive products."

Honored as the Robert D. Ballard Graduate Fellow for his work aboard the Nautilus, Kelly's aim was to collect samples of these rocks and study them so he could create a model of how and why these lava balloons are formed. Working in collaboration with URI Professor Steven Carey, a volcanologist, Kelly spent his days aboard ship helping to map the volcano, determine what lava samples to collect, and recording any notable geological, biological or archaeological observations made by the remotely-operated vehicles (ROV) exploring the site.

Back at Carey's lab on the URI Narragansett Bay Campus, Kelly conducted detailed analyses of the rock samples and created a high-resolution geologic map of the volcano.

"We are the first research team to utilize ROVs to directly observe and sample one of these lava balloon-producing volcanoes," Kelly said. "It's very difficult to study volcanoes in the submarine environment, but we had the right equipment aboard to be able to do it."

In addition to his research, Kelly spent time at the Graduate School of Oceanography as an outreach scientist in the URI Office of Marine Programs, where he led educational field trips and classroom programs on a variety of marine and environmental topics for K-12 students.

Just weeks after graduation this month, Kelly will begin an internship with the National Aeronautic and Space Administration studying rafts of pumice rocks floating in the Pacific Ocean.

"There are massive floating islands of pumice drifting across the ocean, and the Navy wants to know their locations and trajectories because they pose a significant threat to their fleet," Kelly said. "I'm going to keep track of these pumice rafts using satellites."

JOSHUA KELLY OF NORTH READING tells his story of travelling to far off places to gather oceanographic research.

"Now You See Me" falls flat at end

"NOW YOU SEE ME" is like a magic trick that dazzles before it unravels - everything is going reasonably well until the disappointing ending. It is the story of a group of criminal illusionists.

"NOW YOU SEE ME"
GRADE: *

"Now You See Me" is like a magic trick that dazzles before it unravels - everything's going reasonably well until the disappointing end.

The big trick of "Now You See Me" is the criminal ways of a group of illusionists - played by Jesse Eisenberg, Woody Harrelson, Isla Fisher and Dave Franco - brought together by a mysterious stranger to pull off a series of impossible crimes. Their first trick is to rob a bank in Paris without leaving the United States. The tricks get bigger and more baffling.

The authorities - particularly an agent from the FBI (Mark Ruffalo) and Interpol (Mélanie Laurent) - are not amused by how the thieves give all of the money to their audience. Each philanthropic crime makes the agents more determined to end their act.

Until the final scene, "Now You See Me" is a mildly interesting look at what happens when larceny is combined with illusion.

Director Louis Leterrier shows he is adept at dealing with the stage presentations, but doesn't have equal ability staging the more emotional moments. The film is very weak when attempting to portray personal drama.

Eisenberg doesn't have the stage presence to pull off the masterful magician he's supposed to be, while Fisher and Franco are just along for the ride. Neither has the acting talent to make the roles more than just supporting players.

The fourth member of this gang, a mentalist played by Harrelson, comes the closest to being a headliner.

Michael Caine's role as the investor for the magicians doesn't give him much to do. But Morgan Freeman gets the most out of playing an ex-magician who's become a sensation by debunking the work of magicians.

The ending involves a twist that is meant to shock and stun you, but ends up killing the buzz for what has gone before it. Any stage show is only as good as its final act, and this one falls flat.

"FAST AND FURIOUS 6"
GRADE: **

"Fast & Furious 6" is a fun summer thrill ride as long as director Justin Lin keeps the action flowing in the high speed lane. When the movie hits the brakes to deal with relationships, it hits a series of speed bumps.

No other film franchise comes to mind as having gone through so many big changes. It started a dozen years ago with "The Fast and the Furious," the story of an undercover cop infiltrating the Los Angeles street-racer world to stop a hijacking ring. These days, the team of fast-driving criminals, paced by Toretto (Vin Diesel) and ex-cop Brian (Paul Walker), fight international terrorists.

This time, it's a villain named Shaw (Luke Evans) who has put together his own fast-driving crew to steal major weapons parts across Europe and Asia. When he proves too elusive for Agent Luke Hobbs (Dwayne Johnson), the lawman gets Toretto to round up the gang for another ride. He brings a little incentive. Toretto's true love, Letty (Michelle Rodriguez), who was supposed to have died in "Fast & Furious" - the series' fourth edition in 2009 - is alive.

It's that emotional element that puts the brakes on "F&F6." Diesel doesn't have the acting chops to make that part of the story seem real.

The plot device that brings Letty back into the picture keeps Rodriguez from doing much emotionally.

Toretto and Letty are the least interesting characters in the movie. The tech-savvy Tej, as played by Chris "Ludacris" Bridges, and the penny-pinching millionaire, Roman (Tyrese Gibson), are so colorfully and fully formed they could easily star in their own fast car franchise.

The strength of the franchise has always been the action scenes. Whether it's a break-neck race through the crowded streets of London or a showdown between a car and a tank, this is when the movie explodes with extreme stunts.

"Fast and Furious 6" is the kind of movie where logic should be left at home. The action scenes are so big and over the top that, at times, they are laughable, such as a high-flying save by Toretto between two interstate bridges.

Whether it's the exaggerated action scenes or the way this franchise has morphed into an international thriller, the movies remain popular. There will be a seventh installment of this high-octane series.

"STAR TREK: INTO DARKNESS"
GRADE: ****

J.J. Abrams' Star Trek Into Darkness is an exhilarating ride, an action-packed film that completes the upgrade of the science fiction franchise into a made-for-cinema space adventure for modern audiences.

Abrams and Star Trek screenwriters Roberto Orci and Alex Kurtzman with Damon Lindelof, provide Into Darkness with the kind of memorable antagonist that even their initial and successful foray into the Star Trek universe lacked. Their villain is a wayward Star Fleet super-soldier with his own agenda named John Harrison, played to chilling and fun effect by Benedict Cumberbatch. (As for his rumored identity, consider it one of the many surprises the film has in store.)

This is as big and bold as any Star Trek yet.

To raise awareness of blind athletes Beep Ball fundraiser for the blind Saturday

The Association of Blind Citizens (ABC) is holding a movie fundraiser and Baseball Cookout and Ceremony this Saturday, June 8 in Woburn.

ABC has partnered with the Woburn Lions Club to raise awareness of blind athletes and the volunteers that work with them by showing an award-winning movie at 10 a.m. at the Showcase Cinema in Woburn.

The title is "The Renegades: A Beep Ball Story." This is a 72 minute documentary which showcases the capabilities of blind athletes.

From noon to 2 p.m. a Baseball Cookout and Ceremony will be held at the Crown Plaza adjacent to the theater.

The ABC is an all-volunteer 501(c3) not-for-profit organization serving the blind community in Massachusetts. The organization operates a beep baseball team for the blind.

This team gives individuals who are blind a chance to participate in a team sport, develop team building skills and enhance personal independent living skills.

The Renegades team will be participating in a tournament in Chicago and will be attending the week-long Beep Baseball World Series Tournament in Georgia in late July. ABC pays for all expenses related to the team and all the funds raised at this event will support the team's activities.

The cost of the ticket to the event is $25 and can be purchased at www.renegades-documentary-Lions.eventbrite.com.

Please check your local "Daily Times Chronicle" for daily updates.

WELL...YES (WOBURN)

If only: how many of you wish you'd had this option?

"Students at the high school who choose to take on a heavier course load will be allowed to enroll in a wellness program either before or after school in lieu of physical education, according to Woburn Memorial High School Principal Joseph Finigan," notes the Woburn edition of the "Daily Times Chronicle."

Finigan appeared at a recent School Committee meeting to outline the wellness program, "which will involve only 'a handful' of students who opt to enroll in choir or band in addition to a second foreign language or science course.

"For those students who can't fit (physical education) into their regular day, we're offering a 1-day a week wellness (session) ... that we feel will be an adequate trade-off," said Finigan.

"High school officials have identified five students who will be sophomores in the fall who would qualify for enrollment in the wellness program. All take either band or chorus, courses which meet more frequently at Woburn High than they do at most other high schools.

"We don't want to force kids to (drop band or chorus for) phys ed," said Finigan. "We want students to take the most challenging program they can..."

"School Committee member Rick Metters asked if students who have already picked their classes for the 2013-14 academic year could still opt into the wellness program. Finigan said students can make their intentions known by the second or third week in June..."

"Metters praised Finigan for his creativity in coming up with a solution that allows students to maintain a rigorous academic course load while meeting the physical education requirement.

"The knowledge that this is available needs to get out," said Metters. "It's a way to show we're giving students opportunities that they may not be getting in other communities."

SMACKDOWN ON THE 13TH (TEWKSBURY)

"Imagine stepping into the Tewksbury Country Club Ballroom and instead of elegant tables dressed in white linen and a parquet dance floor, you're inside a mini boxing arena, complete with spirited wrestlers and a 16 x 16 boxing ring," notes the Tewksbury "Town Crier."

"This is the kind of transformation you can expect June 13th for the 10th Annual Boston Children's Hospital Benefit at the Tewksbury Country Club.

"Heather Carpenter, a self-proclaimed WWE fan, was searching for fundraising ideas last year when she ran into her husband's friend, Pat Dillon, at a wrestling event. Dillon happened to work with a company in South Boston, UFO Wrestling, which was more than willing to participate in a fundraiser for Children's Hospital..."

"Over the last decade, the Carpenters have raised over $15,000 for Boston Children's Hospital. Since February, they have raised over $1,500, and on June 9, Paige and her mother will participate in the 7-mile NSTAR Walk for Boston Children's Hospital at the DCR Hatch Shell in Boston.

"Their June 13 fundraiser will feature UFO wrestlers Tony Delfonzo, Bare Knuckle Burley, Beau Douglas, Jason Rumble, Andy McKenzie, Joey Rage, Disco Tony Roma, and Brandino Davis, with a special guest appearance by John Cena Sr. - father of 11-time WWE champion wrestler John Cena..."

For more info' and/or tickets, email HMEC75@GMAIL.COM or call 978-771-1446. All of the proceeds go to Boston Children's Hospital.

MIDDLESEX EAST
SPORTS WEEKLY TRIVIA:

Name the pitcher who surpassed Robin Roberts in June of 2010 to become the all-time Major League leader for most home runs surrendered in a career.

Answer appears elsewhere in this column.

The Tufts University softball team completed an undefeated run through the 2013 NCAA Division III Championship by winning 6-5 over Cortland to earn the Jumbo program's first national championship at the University of Wisconsin Eau Claire's Gelein Field.

The Jumbos (46-3) scored three runs in the bottom of the fifth inning to erase a 5-3 deficit and take a 6-5 lead. Sophomore CF Michelle Coopridier (Hopkinton, MA) hit a two-run double to tie the game and sophomore 2B Gracie Marshall's (Palo Alto, CA) single provided the game-winning rbi. Sophomore pitcher Allyson Fournier (South Windsor, CT) shut down Cortland in the sixth and seventh innings to close out the victory.

The Jumbos evened the score at 1-1 in the bottom of the first when junior catcher Jo Clair (Glastonbury, CT) hit a long home run to left-center. The Tufts defense committed its first error in four games at the NCAA Finals in the top of the second, but Cortland was unable to capitalize. Another long home run, this time by sophomore 1B Kris Parr (Austin, TX) in the second inning, gave the Jumbos a 2-1 lead.

Red Dragons senior CF Cassie Kardias doubled with two outs in the top of the third, but Fournier got a ground out to end the inning. Tufts went on to score in each of the first three innings with another in the third. Sophomore LF Bri Keenan (Portsmouth, NH) was hit by a pitch with one out, Clair doubled her to third, then Cortland opted to intentionally walk senior SS Emily Beinecke (Concord, MA). However, a wild pitch by Red Dragons starter Amanda Corrigan allowed Keenan to score for a 3-1 Tufts advantage.

Fournier allowed a one-out single to Hibbard in the top of the sixth, but otherwise shut down the Red Dragons. She set them down 1-2-3 in the seventh, with the final out recorded on a ground ball to first-year 3B Christina Raso (Burlington, MA) who threw to Parr to begin the celebration.

Cortland had 12 hits and scored five runs against Fournier, but she got the job done for her fourth win of the tournament. She went all seven in the championship game, allowing five runs and striking out eight with no walks and one hit-batter. The victory was her 25th of the season and she was named Most Outstanding Player of the NCAA Championship Finals.

The Jumbos had advanced to the NCAA Championship series by winning their first three games in Eau Claire. They had victories against Texas-Tyler (6-0) on Friday, Montclair State (3-1 in nine innings) on Saturday, and Cortland (6-0) on Sunday.

With four wins at the 2013 NCAA Finals, the Jumbos surpassed the three victories that the program had recorded in its three previous trips to the Finals (2012, 2009, 2000). Tufts was 11-0 in the 2013 post-season (NESCAC's and NCAA's) and improves to 37-24 in NCAA Tournament play overall in 13 berths. The Jumbos are now 7-6 overall in their four trips to the NCAA Finals.

Need some help with the trivia question? His initials are J.M.

After a 6-0 shutout loss in game one of a double-header, the Boston College softball team rebounded with an 8-6 victory in game two at Taylor Stadium over Maryland.

In game one, Stephanie Lord (0-10) went the distance for the Eagles as she allowed four earned runs on 10 hits over six innings. Kaitlyn Schmeisser improved to 11-10 for the Terps as she hurled seven scoreless innings – allowing just two singles to Megan Cooley and Jessie Daulton in the win.

Five runs in the first three innings gave Maryland all the offense they would need as the Eagles were unable to muster a rally off of Schmeisser in game one.

The Eagles got a homer from Ronnie Mae Ayers and two hits from Reading's Maria Pandolfo in an 8-6 win in game two of the doubleheader.

A six run outburst in the first inning staked starter Chelsea Dimon to a lead that she would not give up. Dimon's complete game, five earned run performance gave her the ninth win of her the season and BC's second ACC win.

Tory Speer's two-run double, Pandolfo's RBI triple, and Ayers' two-run homer highlighted the Eagles' six run first inning. Leading 6-2 entering the fifth, BC extended their lead with two unearned runs to go up 8-2. Maryland continued to chip away with two runs in the fifth and one in the six to make it an 8-5 game entering the seventh.

Junior P Garrett Cole (Bedford, N.H.) allowed only two hits over eight innings while sophomore CF Geoff DeGroot (Wesley Chapel, Fla.) batted 5 for 5 as UMass Lowell defeated Bentley University, 8-0, in the Northeast-10 Conference Northeast Division regular season finale at LeLacheur Park.

The win was bittersweet for UMass Lowell, which caps the regular season 30-19 overall and 11-10 in the NE-10 Northeast Division, just short of the cut for the NE-10 Tournament. Merrimack (12-9 in the Northeast Division) defeated Stonehill Sunday afternoon, 9-1, to grab the eighth and final Tournament spot.

Bentley slipped to 26-20 overall and 13-8 in the Northeast Division and awaits NE-10 Tournament pairings.

DeGroot drove in two runs and scored one while sophomore 1B Jimmy Ricoy (Lowell, Mass.) and senior Patrick Devlin (Tewksbury, Mass.) each batted 2 for 5 with a run. Senior 3B James Katsiroubas (Milton, Mass.) went 1 for 3 with two walks and a two-run home run to open the scoring in the third inning.

WEEK'S TRIVIA QUESTION: Jamie Moyer.

DO YOU KNOW SOMETHING WE DON'T? If you have information about a local athlete that you would like to see appear in this column, please email it to readingchronicle@comcast.net, or mail it to: Paul Feely, Middlesex East Sports, P.O. Box 240, Reading, Ma., 01867, or call Paul at 781-944-2200.

Kelly
from S-1

He hopes the internship will lead to a permanent job as a research geologist with NASA or another government agency.

"I thoroughly enjoyed my volcanology studies at URI, but I think remote sensing is much more applicable to issues facing society, so I'm going to see if I like it and perhaps pursue that as a career," he said.

It's a little-known fact, but rocks (some of them, anyway) can float. And a massive one – 7,500 square miles, to be specific, bigger than the state of Connecticut – is apparently doing just that in the South Pacific.

An odd-looking formation discovered at sea was found to be a large mass of volcanic pumice, a type of lava rock that features millions of tiny air bubbles, which allow it to float on water. Lieutenant Tim Oscar, an Australian officer serving with the New Zealand navy, was in command of the first vessel to make a study of the rock shelf; he told the news site Scoop it was "the weirdest thing I've seen in 18 years at sea."

The lookout reported a shadow on the ocean ahead of us so I ordered the ship's spotlight to be trained on the area," Oscar said. "As far ahead as I could observe was a raft of pumice moving up and down with the swell."

New evidence of changes on the seafloor confirms an erupting undersea volcano created the sprawling rock raft.

New Zealand scientists aboard the research vessel Tangaroa recently mapped the underwater volcano, Havre Seamount, which erupted on July 19, 2012 and was thought to have sent pumice rocks floating over a stretch of ocean 8,500 square miles (22,000 square kilometers). Now, the scientists say they detected a new volcanic cone – a feature built during an eruption – at Havre Seamount, reaching within 3,600 feet (1,100 meters) of the surface.

Pumice forms when volcanic lava cools quickly. Gas gets trapped inside as the lava hardens, resulting in porous lightweight rocks that can float.

On Aug. 9, 2012, the HMNZS Canterbury ship observed the floating pumice "island" – measuring 300 miles (482 kilometers) in length and more than 30 miles (48 km) wide. The floating fluff apparently "lit up a brilliant white color" under a spotlight, "like the edge of an ice shelf," said Lieutenant Oscar.

Peppercorn Steak Salad

Simple enough for any night of the week, this peppercorn steak salad prepared by Chef Dave Foegely is packed with flavor. An elegant dish, this 8 ounce top sirloin is coated in peppercorns and grilled to perfection, before being sliced and placed on an iceberg-romaine salad with green goddess dressing.

The steak is prepared with simplicity, allowing the choice cut beef to have center stage. The salad is also hiding a few surprises: bacon, and crumbled blue cheese are among the ingredient list. If you do not have time to cook the bacon, or are avoiding the stove on a hot night, try using bacon bits as an alternative.

The dressing on the salad is key factor to the success of this dish. "Green goddess dressing is kind of an old one you don't see anymore," Foegely explained. It consists of parsley, chives, tarragon, thyme, mustard, anchovies, mayonnaise and sour cream. "So you have a very nice dish that can be done anytime of year and make a nice meal," Foegely adds.

Ingredients

For the Steak:
8 ounce top sirloin
15-20 peppercorns, crushed

For the Salad:
1 cup iceberg lettuce
1 cup romaine lettuce
6 grape tomatoes, halved
1 tablespoon crumbled blue cheese
2-3 strips of bacon or bacon bits

For the Dressing:
2-3 anchovies or 2 teaspoons anchovy paste
¾ cup mayonnaise
¾ cup sour cream
1 tablespoon mustard
½ cup parsley
¼ cup tarragon
¼ cup thyme
3 tablespoons chives, chopped

See the video on our website
food.homenewshere.com

INSTRUCTIONS

- Crush the peppercorns with a mortar and pestle or in a pepper mill. Cover the steak in peppercorns, and place it on the grill.
- Begin to cook the bacon in a medium skillet on medium heat. (Skip this step if using precooked or bacon bits.)
- Chop the lettuces and halve the tomatoes, then place them in a medium-large bowl.
- Into a blender, add parsley, chives, tarragon, thyme, mustard, anchovies, mayo and sour cream. Blend them together for about a minute, or until smooth.
- Chop the bacon and crumble the blue cheese. Add these ingredients to the salad bowl.
- Pour over the Green Goddess dressing and toss.
- Once the steak is cooked to the desired temperature, allow it to sit for 2 minutes. This ensures the juices do not run over the salad.
- Slice the steak, and place it over the plated salad. Serve with your favorite beverage.

Advice for aging athletes

Retired professional athletes often speak about the difficult moment when they knew it was time to retire from professional competition. The transition can be easy for some but far more difficult for others. But aging amateur athletes know you need not be a professional to realize there comes a time when your body is telling you it's time to ease up.

Athletes are used to pushing themselves and stretching their limits, but some limits are best not pushed. Such is the case with the limits posed by aging. While athletes don't have to completely fold up shop and hang up their cleats, tennis shoes or other athletic equipment as they approach senior citizen status, there are steps aging athletes can take to ensure they aren't pushing their bodies too far as they grow older.

* Recognize your new recovery time. Veteran athletes tend to have a sixth sense about their bodies, knowing how long they need to recover from common ailments like ankle sprains, knee pain, back pain and shin splints. Despite the body's remarkable ability for recovery, it's not immune to aging, and that recovery time will increase as the body ages. Whereas a sprained ankle might once have been as good as new after a few days or rest, aging athletes must recognize that the same ankle sprain now might require more recovery time. Returning too quickly from an injury can only make things worse for aging athletes, so don't push yourself.

* Take more time to warm up. As the body ages, its response time to exercise increases. This means the body needs more time to prepare itself for cardiovascular and strength training exercises. Increase your warmup time as you age, gradually increasing the intensity of your warmup exercises until your body feels ready for more strenuous exercise.

* Focus on flexibility. The more flexible you are, the more capable the body is of absorbing shock, including the shock that results from repetitive activities. But as the body ages, it becomes less flexible, which makes it less capable of successfully handling the repetitive movements common to exercise. Aging athletes should focus on their flexibility, stretching their muscles before and after a workout. In addition, activities such as yoga can work wonders on improving flexibility for young and aging athletes alike.

* Don't stop strength training. Some aging athletes mistakenly feel they should stop strength training as they get older. No longer concerned about building muscle, aging athletes might feel as if they have nothing to gain by lifting weights and continuing to perform other muscle strengthening exercises. But the body gradually loses muscle mass as it ages, and that loss puts the joints under greater stress when aging athletes perform other exercises. That stress can put people at greater risk for arthritis, tendinitis and ligament sprains. While you no longer need to max out on the bench press or challenge yourself on the biceps curl, it is important to continue to make strength training a part of your fitness regimen as you age.

Aging athletes need not associate aging with ceasing their athletic pursuits. But recognizing your limitations and the changes your body is going through is an important element of staying healthy as your approach older adulthood.

How to find time in your daily life for exercise

Many men and women cite hectic schedules as the primary reason they fail to get enough exercise.

Commitments to work and family may dominate your schedule, but daily exercise can drastically reduce your risk for cardiovascular disease and diabetes and help reduce stress.

Because exercise can vastly improve quality of life and even life expectancy, it's imperative that even the busiest men and women find time to exercise several times per week. The following are a handful of ways to do just that.

* Transform your commute. Many men and women find their commutes to be a significant waste of time. But instead of sitting in traffic or napping on public transportation, consider transforming your daily commute into an exercise regimen. If you live close to your office, ride your bicycle to work each day rather than driving or taking the bus or train. If that's not an option, avoid working during your commute so you aren't stressing out on your way into or home from the office. Instead, spend your commute listening to an audiobook in the car or reading a book or watching a movie if you take public transportation. Use your commute as an opportunity to exercise, ease into your day or unwind after a long day rather than extending the workday.

* Make the most of your lunch hour. Many working professionals are aware that a big lunch in the middle of the day can drain them of energy and make the afternoon crawl. So instead of indulging in a big lunch, use your lunch hour to squeeze in a workout. If your company has an on-site fitness facility, visit it during your lunch hour. If not, walk around the campus during lunch instead of sitting at your desk. Exercising during your lunch hour is a great way to squeeze in a workout, and chances are your afternoon productivity will benefit from your midday workout.

* Get up early. Men and women who workout in the morning often rave about the impact such workouts have on the rest of their days. While it might not be easy to rise when it's still dark out, waking up as little as 30 minutes before you normally would can work wonders. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention recommend adults get at least two hours and 30 minutes of moderate-intensity aerobic activity, such as brisk walking, every week and some muscle-strengthening activities that focus on all the major muscle groups on two or more days per week. So setting your alarm 30 minutes earlier and making the most of that dusty fitness equipment in the basement is all that stands between you and a much healthier lifestyle. Once you get used to exercising in the early morning hours, you might realize just how much more energy you have throughout the day and how little you miss that extra sleep in the morning.

* Forgo happy hour for workout hour. The days when professionals would finish off a workday with a few drinks at a nearby tavern are largely a thing of the past, but some professionals still like to indulge in one or two alcoholic beverages at the end of the workday. If that's your modus operandi but you bemoan your lack of time to get to the gym, then say goodbye to happy hour in favor of working out at the gym. Working out after work is a healthier way to relieve stress than having a few drinks, and choosing to work out instead of going out for drinks is a great way to trim your waistline.

Daily exercise can drastically improve your quality of life while significantly reducing your risk for potentially deadly diseases. And even the busiest men and women can find time to exercise every day when motivated to do so.
